CONVICTED MURDERER, IN LOS ANGELES JAIL, CONFESSES PART IN WALL STREET BOMBING

Workers Caught in Collapse of Building

ONE KNOWN DEAD,
FIFTEEN INJURED,
AS FLOOR CAVES

Five-Story New York Building, Being Dismantled, Falls on Score of Working Crew.

FLOOR CRASHES DOWN PINNING MEN BELOW

At Least Four of Trapped Men Had Not Been Found at Late Hour.

New York, March 30.—Sudden collapse of a five-story building, as it was being dismantled Friday, caught a wrecking crew of 20 men under tons of debris, killed at least one and injured 15.

Thousands of Jewish and Catholic workers in the nearby tenement district, enjoying the Passover and Good Friday holidays, crowded Canal and Eldridge streets, which were almost at once jammed with fire equipment, ambulances and other rescue units.

Morris Rosenberg, contractor in charge of the dismantling, and his crew of about 20, were apparently all at work on the first and second floors, after their return from lunch. The fourth and fifth stories had already been razed.

Without warning the third floor pancaked down on the workers, falling almost without crashing. All the wreckers and three sub-contractors hauling wreckage, whose trucks stood at the curb, were caught. Three hours after the crash Rosenberg and at least three others were still missing, and at least 12 injured men had been removed.

Mayor Hylan drove to the building,
at 39 Eldridge, for a personal investigation.

As the walls fell, a fire-escape was left clinging attached only to the steel frame work of the building.

Under the layer of debris the cries of a man, apparently not badly injured shouting "get me out of here," could be heard for more than an hour.

Wives and children of the workers reached the scene while many of the men were still missing, and after others had been taken to hospitals without any record of their names.
They were unable to restrain their cries to the firemen as the latter dug into the tangled debris.

Missing Boys Found, Trapped in Showcase,
After Long Search

San Bernardino, Cal., March 30.—
Richard Jensen, five years old, and Dean Meechan four, missing since Saturday, were found tonight. The Jensen boy was alive, but unconscious. The Meechan boy was dead.

The two lads had crawled into a wooden shoe case in a building in the business district and had smothered.
A trap door had closed behind them
and they could not open it.

At first it was believed both boys were dead, but officers detected signs of life in the Jensen boy and he was rushed to a hospital where physicians said he would probably recover.

It had been thought that the boys had been kidnapped and many gypsy camps in southern California were searched. More than one thousand men, women and boys searched most of the week for the boys.

Wife Can't Prove
Which of Doubles
Is Her Husband

Neither Man Will Accept
Her as Wife, and Both Look Exactly Alike.

BY RODNEY F. DUTCHER.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, March 30.—King Solomon's famous case wherein two women claimed the same child was rather a cinch compared to the "who's whose" puzzle Judge Morgan tried and failed to settle in the court of domestic relations here Friday.

"Who is Irene's husband and the father of her child?" was the question.
It's no easier for the writer and the reader to figure it out than for the judge, who has tried and settled all varieties of the domestic complex, but—

Mrs. Irene Hayes Siero—or Serpe—was the plaintiff in a complaint that her husband had failed to support her and her 2-year-old child. The baby was also in court.

Two Defendants.

There were two defendants, Paul Siero and Sam Serpe, looking as much alike as a couple of regulation golf balls, except that one wore a tan overcoat and the other a gray striped suit. Developments made it appear that these two had interchangeable names, each being known occasionally by the name of the other.

Irene, an attractive young woman of 23, pointed out the man with the tan overcoat as her legally wed husband and father of the child. She produced a marriage license signed by Paul Siero and dated December 8, 1919.

He was positively, she declared, the same man she had lived with for three years. Irene's mother and father and other witnesses declared they were equally positive.

But it wasn't Paul she married at all, Irene declared, explaining that she found she had married Sam Serpe two or three years later and then had the baby rechristened.

Names Look Alike.
To all this the man in the tan overcoat merely laughed.

"That's Sam Serpe over there," he said, pointing to his co-defendant.
"He's her husband. I was working on a railroad in Michigan at the time this marriage license was issued. I can prove I wasn't here."

So the court had Sam and Paul write their names on a piece of paper.
The results looked much alike. The judge thought the signature of the striped-suited man looked most like that on the license.

"Nothing doing," Irene insisted, "I know who I married and who I lived with."

"I'm the only husband she ever had," contradicted the self-alleged husband.

OCCUPATION TAX FIGHT RE-OPENED

Restaurant Association Will Ask for Repeal or Equalization of Law Before 1923 Legislature.

The fight on the occupational tax law, passed by the legislature of 1921,
by the Atlanta Restaurant association will be continued more vigorously than ever, it was stated last night, after a meeting of that organization at which recommendations by Thomas E. Scott, the association's attorney, were heard.

The fight was opened soon after the bill was passed by the legislature, an injunction being obtained preventing the tax collector of Fulton county from collecting taxes which are provided under the law, was secured. The Georgia supreme court recently held the law constitutional in an appeal
by cigar dealers and state authorities are now preparing to enforce collection of the tax.

"The association will lay the matter of equalizing or the repeal of the law before the legislature of 1923, and if it decides to allow it to stand, we will carry the fight to the Georgia supreme court, and if we get no satisfaction there, we will go to the highest court, the supreme court of the United States," Thomas E. Scott declared.

"Our fight is not exactly for the repeal of that law, but for the equalization, making it so that the smaller restaurant owner will be compelled to pay taxes in accordance with the size of his place of business, and, of course, the larger the restaurant, the larger the taxes," Mr. Scott continued, "but we also want the law effective in other lines of business as well. Whereas, a soda fountain may be considered a non-essential, I cannot see how a res-

EVIDENCE IN MURDER TRIAL OFFERED HERE

Large Wash Boiler and Meat Chopper Introduced—Government Seeking Missing Witness.

The outstanding feature of the trial of Victor E. Innes on a charge of using the mails to defraud in United States district court Friday, was Innes' appearance on the stand, the first time he had made a statement in connection with the case since the disappearance of the Nelm sisters in

The government rested shortly before 12 o'clock Friday, after completing an enormous amount of testimony and documentary evidence, including submission of a large meat chopper and a wash boiler, which objects were said to have been used by Innes in destroying the bodies of the two Nelm girls.

Move for Acquittal.
Immediately after the government rested, attorneys for Innes moved for acquittal on the second count on the ground that there was a variance in the allegation and the proof submitted.

The second count charged using the mails to defraud in the instance of a letter said to have been written in 1914, and the testimony submitted by the government in this connection indicated that the letter had been written in 1913.

It was a letter said to have been written by Innes to Mrs. Dennis acknowledging receipt of money and asking for an additional remittance to safeguard investments. In the indictment the date of the letter was given as 1914, and L. P. Weathers, an important witness for the prosecution, testified that the letter was received in 1913.

Counsel for Innes moved that an acquittal be granted because it was a material variance in allegation and evidence, but the motion was overruled by Judge Sibley, who held that the allegation varying from the proof was not material unless it was shown that defendant had been misled by the allegation, had prepared to defend himself according to the letter of the allegation, and had come to trial unprepared to defend himself according to the evidence actually submitted, and was thus in danger of being in jeopardy twice for the same offense.

Texas Laws Cited.

rice Nelm, to Texas, there murdered

ed when you should have been busy at work?

If so, you adopted this course in the face of repeated warnings from the club, and your failure can be laid only at your own door.

Club Statement.
At the close of the campaign only workers remain on the membership list. Forty-three awards are to be given away—which means that one club member out of approximately every five will be a prize-winner.

"The Help-Yourself club wishes that each and every member could be awarded a handsome prize," was the statement of the management Friday night. "It feels at the close of its campaign that each and every person participating has been given fair and impartial treatment and that the club has functioned at all times in a perfectly square and above-board manner."

"To those who will win the greatest totals of votes and who will therefore be entitled to prizes, the club issues
the following statement:

CLOSING INSTRUCTIONS.
The campaign ends at 9 o'clock tonight. Doors of the club will be open until that hour to receive subscriptions brought in by hand.
After 9 o'clock the doors will close on all subscriptions.

All subscriptions placed in the mails up to 9 o'clock will count.
Do not register your remittances;
use special delivery stamps.

The Tripoli colonial war was start-

RUSS RESENTFUL OF WORLD PLEAS FOR TWO CLERICS

Soviet Not Pleased by Efforts of U. S. and Other Governments to Save Condemned.

Moscow, March 30.—The government of Russia, according to the inspired press, resents the protests made by the United States and other nations against the execution of General Viktor Budovich of the Roman Catholic church, who has been found guilty of counter-revolutionary activities against the communist government.

Both Budovich and Archbishop Cieplak, head of the Roman church in Russia, were sentenced to death, but the latter's sentence was commuted to ten years in prison.

In editorials appearing in Pravda and Ivestia, the punishment of Bude-vich is denounced, it being declared that he had been proved an agent of Poland, despite the fact that he was a citizen of Russia.

The Polish delegation at Moscow and others are making eleventh-hour attempts to save the life of the vicar.

WIDENS BREACH WITH CIVILIZATION.
Washington, March 30.—The breach between Soviet Russia and the western world has been widened by the sentences of death imposed on Roman Catholic prelates there.

The incident has checked the growth of sentiment favoring recognition of the soviet here, just when it was being fanned into life by the campaign in which Senator Borah has played a leading part.

Press dispatches from Moscow report that the death sentence of Archbishop Cieplak, head of the Roman Catholic church in Russia, has been commuted to ten years. Clemency was denied to Vicar General Budovich, who was charged with being the agent of the Polish government in his anti-soviet activities. Death sentences had been imposed on both of these leading church men, and lesser penalties on a number of others convicted of agitation against the soviet regime.

This action aroused horror among western Christian nations. The United States and Great Britain made their disapproval known officially
and many religious organizations, Protestant as well as Catholic, protested on humanitarian grounds against the prospect of executions.

The soviet government has without doubt placed a fresh obstacle in the way of recognition by the United

"OPEN DOOR" IN CHINA IS STRESSED IN TREATY

Action Removes Diplomatic Agreement Which Had Proved Source of Endless Controversy.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, March 30.—The celebrated Lansing-Ishii agreement by which the United States in 1917 recognized Japan's "special interests" in China, has been cancelled by mutual agreement of the Washington and Tokio governments.

Diplomatic negotiations between the two governments have resulted in a new understanding, based primarily on the provisions of the nine-power pact, written at the Washington armaments conference, and regarded as applying more effectively "the principles of the open door or equality of opportunity in China."

In disposing of the Lansing-Ishii agreement and substituting for it the principles of the document subscribed
by the nine powers, the United States,
Japan, China, Great Britain, France, Italy, Portugal, the Netherlands and Belgium, the American and Japanese governments accept a parity of interest in China and at the same time, do away with an agreement that was a source of controversy from the very day it was announced.

Credit to Warren.
The negotiations for abandonment of the agreement were successfully carried on in Tokyo as one of the last official acts of "Charles B. Warren, Detroit, the retiring ambassador to Japan. Diplomats regard the achievement as the capstone to a long series of negotiations conducted by the retiring ambassador which have placed the diplomatic affairs of the United States, with regard to the far east, in a more favorable situation than they have occupied since questions between the United States and Japan began coming into controversy.

The Lansing-Ishii agreement was signed by Secretary Lansing and Ambassador Ishii on November 2, 1917, in the form of an "executive understanding," and as such it became immediately effective without the formality of ratification. Negotiated with the utmost secrecy on the part of both governments, it created one of the outstanding diplomatic sensations of the war days when news of it first reached the outside world in press reports from Peking on November 5.

The Chinese government had not received beforehand the slightest information that the agreement had been proposed by Japan to Washington. Its first information was received from the Japanese ambassador in Peking, when he delivered translated copies of the agreement to the Peking foreign office.

Its first action was to inquire at the American legation whether the reported agreement was authentic and at that time, no legation official had been informed of what had been done in Washington. The state department, however, soon confirmed the report,
and protests were filed by direction of the Peking government in both Washington and Tokio.

Controversy Arose.
Differences quickly developed between the Japanese and American translations with particular reference to the phrase "special interests." The Japanese contended that the United States had recognized Japan's paramountcy in China. Secretary Lansing disagreed with that interpretation and the differences remained unsettled throughout the life of the agreement.

"The governments of the United States and Japan recognize that territorial propinquity creates special relations between countries and, consequently, the government of the United States recognizes that Japan has special interests in China, particularly in the part to which her possessions are contiguous.

Cancellation of the agreement at this time is regarded by American officials as fortunate for the reason that it removed all ambiguity from the language of existing conventions between the United States and Japan

Chicago, March 30.—For weeks employees of Crane and company here made Charles S. Johnson the butt of their jokes and pranks.

into his head.

Mrs. Johnson said the police her husband had told he couldn't go back to his job because he couldn't stand the "kidding."

TO VICTIM SAVES
MAN FROM GANG

Albert Thompson, Son-in-law of Carter Harrison, Former Chicago Mayor,
Pays Fine of $1,000.

By restoring to his victim $3,500
taken in one of the Floyd Woodward swindles here four years ago, Albert Thompson, former Atlanta "bunco" man, and a son-in-law of the late Carter Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, Friday averted a one-year chain gang sentence.

Thompson's act also enabled his victim to lift the $3,500 mortgage he had placed on his farm in order to raise the cash later taken from him
by Woodward's gang.

The victim was B. F. Keys, of Earlsborough, Okla. The restitution of the amount was made by Thompson in Judge John L. Humphries' court after he had admitted his part in the swindling.

Mrs. Thompson was present. A $1,000 fine and a chain gang sentence of 12 months was imposed, but when Thompson paid the fine and reimbursed Keys the chain gang sentence was suspended.

W. Woods White, prominent Atlantan, addressed the court in Thompson's behalf, asserting that an investigation had shown that Thompson had led an honest life since his marriage, which was shortly after he left Atlanta, four years ago.

Thompson was recently arrested in California on information furnished authorities of that state by Solicitor Boykin's office.

In 1919 Keys was induced by Thompson and his confederates to invest $3,500 in a bogus stock venture.
To raise that sum, Keys mortgaged his farm. The loan is now due, he said Friday, and the reimbursement by Thompson has saved his farm from the sheriff's hammer.

old dilapidated building, Salon de-

Only 44 years old now, Salon took

He'll spend a quarter of a million dollars in Chicago, he says, if he can

"I landed in Australia from Lithuania when I was 15," he said. "I started selling jewelry and saved 2,000 pounds."

"Then I got the race horse fever. I plunged with all I had and when it was all over I was broke and even lost my pants."

out His Recommendation.

Following action of city council's police committee Thursday night in electing Patrolman N. V. Barnett to the rank of sergeant without the approval of Police Chief James L. Beavers, the latter Friday enlisted the aid of City Attorney James L. Mayson to determine the legality of the committee's appointment and also sought a ruling to determine whether the committee's election of other officers in the department without the nomination of the chief conforms with the city code.

In the event City Attorney Mayson
rules the changes by the committee in the personnel of the plainclothes squad
and other departments were illegal, Chief Beavers declared he would refuse to recognize the officers promoted without his nomination and take steps to hold up their salary. This would effect the standing of Captain T. O.
Sturdivant, head of the plainclothes squad and his two lieutenants, Chewing and Davis, it was stated.

Sends Lengthy Letter.
A lengthy communication in which he defined his rights as prescribed in the code and in which he asked the city attorney to rule on the legality of various acts by the committee since it succeeded the old board of police commissioners was transmitted to Mr.
Mayson by Chief Beavers Friday afternoon.

Chief Beavers, in the communication, stated the committee had ignored his position as head of the police department and on numerous occasions voted to promote certain officers and effect other changes in the personnel of the department without first obtaining the chief's sanction to the action.

Columbus, Ohio, March 30.—Seven persons are dead tonight and 15 lie

the wrecking of Big Four train No. 11 which crashed into an automobile at a grade crossing north of here early today, "buckled" from the impact and the sudden application of airbrakes and catapulted from the rails.

The train composed entirely of steel Pullman cars, struck the automobile,
instantly killed its three occupants,
a woman and two small children, and hurtled along the wooden crossties for more than 100 yards before the engine and four of the coaches turned over on their sides.

An hour behind schedule, the train,
one of the most luxurious operated by the railroad, was entering the last lap of its journey from Boston to Cincinnati, when the accident occurred. Its engineer, Andrew Green, of Cleveland, said tonight that he was speeding at the rate of 70 miles an hour, when the automobile crept onto the tracks a short 20 feet ahead. He applied the brakes immediately, but

CONVICT STILL KEPT IN ATHENS HOSPITAL

Gerald Chapman Will Not Be Returned to Prison for Several Days.

Gerald Chapman, who with Frank Grey made a sensational escape from the Atlanta federal penitentiary Tuesday morning, will not be brought back to Atlanta under two or three days, according to Deputy Warden L. J. Fletcher, who went to Athens Friday with the intention of bringing him back, but returned without him when Prison Physician Dr. Fowler pronounced his condition unsafe for moving.

Warden J. E. Dyche stated that the prison physician had been sent with Deputy Warden Fletcher for the purpose of getting exact information as to the condition of Chapman. The authorities, he stated, do not wish to move the injured man until it is safe, but at the same time they do not wish him to remain in Athens any longer than is absolutely necessary. Grey was returned to Atlanta Wednesday following capture of the two men in a gun battle near Colbert, Ga. Chapman sustained three bullet wounds, and has since been under guard at a hospital in Athens. A probe of the escape of the two prisoners is being conducted by prison authorities, but Friday it was announced that nothing definite had yet been learned concerning the confederate aiding in their escape. Grey, under quiz at the prison, steadfastly refuses to talk of anything consequential regarding their escape. Prison officials expressed the belief that either one of both of the men might, as time goes on, "open up," and throw some light on the situation. P. W. Nichols, driver for the Yellow Cab company, who drove the two escaped convicts out of the city, is still thought to have made erroneous reports of his part in their flight toward Athens. Deputy Warden Fletcher stated that upon his return from Athens, he had learned, while in Athens Fri-

INQUEST ABANDONED IN DEATH OF BLACK

An inquest into the cause of the death of J. H. A. Black, 55, of 290 South Pryor street, was not held by the coroner Friday, following the discovery that Black's death was witnessed by his employer, H. O. Teat. Doctors stated he died from apoplexy. His end came while engaged in unloading some lumber at Central avenue and Garnett street. The body is at the chapel of T. C. Bazemore. Funeral arrangements will be completed as soon as out-of-town relatives have been communicated with.

CHICAGO GRAND JURY
COVERS WIDE RANGE

Chicago, March 30.—Brewery officials, alleged embezzlers from national banks and violators of the federal narcotic laws were all hit in indictments returned by the federal grand jury here today.

Carl E. Gregory, a former bookkeeper of the Union National bank of Elgin, Ill., was indicted on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he has embezzled over $42,000 from the institution since 1915. Otto C. Lindem, former cashier of the Le-mont National bank, of Lemont, Ill., was indicted, charged with embezzling over $112,000, and Robert Morrison, former bookkeeper of the First National bank, of Mendota, Ill., was indicted for embezzlement, it being charged he embezzled $1,535 of that bank's funds.

Seventeen persons were named for alleged violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

Officials of three breweries were named in indictments charging the manufacture, transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor. These included officials of the Peru Products company of Peru, Ill., officers of the Star Brewing company of LaSalle, Ill., and officers of the Atlas Brewing company of Chicago.

the bills of Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, providing for a nine-foot channel from Utica to Cairo, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce announced today. Hearings are to be held here and the committee will travel down the rivers to New Orleans, La.

The McCormick bill proposes to have the rivers dredged for a uniform channel so barge traffic, now operating between Cairo and New Orleans and from Pittsburgh to Louisville, may be extended to Chicago.

NEWSPAPER STORY BRANDED AS FALSE

Story in Atlanta Afternoon Paper "Child of Over-Fertile Imagination," Says Postal Employees.

Macon, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Branding the story in an afternoon paper in Atlanta Thursday afternoon to the effect of his arrest for robbing the mails vindicated Hillier Rudisill, late Macon postmaster, in connection with the disappearance of $86,000 from the Macon postoffice, followed by Rudisill's suicide, as "the child of an over-fertile imagination," W. B. F. Anderson today denied that he was in any way responsible for Mr. Rudisill's shortage.

stock room. During the 21 years I have been connected with the Macon postoffice I have never been in the stock room.

Mr. Anderson commented on the fact that Rudisill's letter to Inspector Tomlinson, of Atlanta, had never been published and said he would welcome the publication of the letter.

He branded the charges against him as a "frame-up" and said postal inspectors when sent out on a case "must make some kind of a showing."

RAIN INTERRUPTS PRESIDENTIAL GOLF

St. Augustine, Fla., March 30.—Rain prevented President Harding today from duplicating Monday's feat of thirty-six holes of golf. The president and the members of his foursome were pushing hard toward the goal of thirty-six holes, no mean accomplishment for the golfer, when a steady sprinkle turned into a down-pour just as the party was leaving the thirteenth green. The shelter of a nearby shack was sought and when the rain slackened after a half hour the presidential foursome dashed to the clubhouse.

The visit of the president and the members of his vacation party to St. Augustine will come to an end late tomorrow. Bidding goodbye to this city, where the longest stop of the vacation trip has been made, the presidential party will leave by special train for Augusta, Ga., arriving there early Sunday morning. The length of the stay there has not been decided, but it may be until the end of the week.

Colonel Answers Charges in Suit Filed by Captain

Colonel Conger Emphatically Denies Voicing Character Attack on Woman.

San Antonio, Texas, March 30.—Colonel Arthur L. Conger, commander of the 20th infantry, Fort Sam Houston, today made a deposition in the $100,000 damage suit brought against him by Captain Edwin H. Randle and Mrs. Randle for alleged defamation of character. Colonel Conger emphatically denies that he spoke ill of Mrs. Randle's character as had been charged in the petition filed by the Randles. He denies persecuting Randle, but admits he suggested to him to resign after he had been informed of a "party" at the Randle home.

His deposition was filed with the clerk of the district court. "Colonel Conger, in answer to the first group of interrogatories, denies that he read from a written document on March 9, but that he made a verbal address to officers of the 20th infantry admitting, however, that he at times referred to penciled notes in order to refresh his memory. He also denies that he reflected upon any members of Captain Randle's family in that address.

"I order you not to speak to any officer or member of a family of this regiment," the deposition quotes Colonel Conger on that occasion, "except when necessary in the performance of duties assigned you by proper authority."

Flat Denial. The deposition denies specifically that Colonel Conger told the assembly that Captain Randle and his wife could not attend any social functions or dances, nor were the ladies of the regiment charged not to associate with Captain Randle or his family.

"I said Captain Randle was not to enter any set or quarters or barracks," the deposition sets out, "unless his duty required it except those assigned him for occupancy and he was not to enter any dance hall or place of amusement on the reservation, and further told the officers present that they were to assist Captain Randle in the carrying out of these instructions by refraining from visiting Captain Randle at his quarters or inviting Captain Randle to theirs."

Colonel Conger sets out that on March 9 he imposed one week's restriction to the reservation upon Captain Randle for his failure to report under orders at the appointed time.

Denies Persecution. Denying categorically that he had persecuted Captain Randle in any manner or that he had ever tried to force him to resign or divorce his wife, Colonel Conger says: "It is a fact that previous to the reprimand heretofore referred to and to save Captain Randle and the officers of the regiment from witnessing and hearing a reprimand to a brother officer, I told Captain Randle that there was a perfectly honorable way out of the difficulty and that was a resignation by him of his connection with the army."

Further denial is made that Colonel Conger in "rage," declared to Captain Randle that his car was "junk," and was unfit to be used by an officer in uniform. He admits, however, warning officers that their cars should be kept clean and in good condition, just the same as their uniform and equipment. He denies that he forbade Captain Randle to ride in his car when not in uniform or that he forbade him to park his car near his quarters. It is set out, however, that Colonel Conger did say he did not want the car parked near Twentieth infantry headquarters and that he assigned Captain Randle for his car.

Soiled Shoes. Denial is also made that Colonel Conger instructed Captain Randle to return to his quarters upon one occasion and polish his shoes and leggings. It is set out, however, that Colonel Conger, when Captain Randle is alleged to have appeared with soiled leggings and shoes, instructed him to go and have them polished. Colonel Conger also denies having forced Captain Randle to march in the file closers on the occasion of a review.

In pointing out any absence of persecution by him of Captain Randle, Colonel Conger cites that contrary to precedent, the Randles were not given a wedding present by members of the regiment but that when he joined the organization a year after their marriage, he personally started a subscription.

"I did not state to Captain Randle on March 5," the deposition says, "that unless he divorced his wife his career was at an end and he might as well resign and nothing was ever said that could possibly be construed to that effect."

In answer to further questions, Colonel Conger says that he did not command Captain Randle and his wife from associating with other officers and ladies, nor did he command others not to associate with Mrs. Randle. Specific denial is made that Colonel Conger ever charged that she "was unfit to associate with honorable ladies," nor "imputed to her a want of chastity."

"I never told plaintiff on March 6," the deposition says, "that he must separate from his wife as she was impossible and could not be socially received."

CHARGES LARCENY IN LIQUOR DEAL

New York, March 30.—Declaring that he had expended more than $6,000 in a liquor deal which never materialized, Leon Meone, an investment broker, appeared in court today as complainant against Vincent Zolotano, John Maresco and Placido Kusil, whom he charged with larceny. The defendants' lawyer told the court that the ship which conveyed the liquor to this country was lost at sea. The three men were held for examination. Meone also charged Mario Antinolfi, a salesman, with larceny of $750 which he said he had given him for the purchase of some diamonds from a woman friend. Antinolfi asserted the $750 had been given him for Meone's part in another liquor deal.

Recover Stolen Goods.

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The local force of the Atlantic Coast Line police department recovered during the past year stolen goods valued at $5,739,770, according to the annual report of the department published today. The amount collected in fines upon defendants arrested by the police was $6,202.

Steamer Floated.

Long Beach, March 30.—The Italian steamer Buckle which went ashore near here two weeks ago was floated by wreckers this evening. Several tugs have been attempting to take the ship from the beach since she was grounded.

Third Shooting In 48 Hours At Harlan, Ky.

One Dead, One Dying After Pistol Battle Late Thursday.

Harlan, Ky., March 30.—George Belcher, 25 years old, of Harlan, was instantly killed and Jesse Pace, 35 years old, world war veteran and former chief of police of Harlan, was probably fatally wounded last night in the third shooting affray occurring in this section within 48 hours.

The death toll now stands at eight. A woman and a boy are among those killed.

According to the reports received here of the battle, Belcher fired the first shot. Pace, after falling, drew his pistol and put five shots through Belcher's body within a radius of eight inches. It is said that each wound was a fatal one.

Pace is an internationally known marksman. During the world war he participated as a member of the American team which won the world trophy in a rifle meet in which the best marksmen of the various allied armies were entered.

All of the battles are said to have been caused by moonshine liquor. The Kelly Walker, a policeman; Ike Kelly, his wife and a brother, George Strong, were killed Wednesday in a battle during a raid on Strong's moonshine still at Asher, Leslie county.

Alex Little, Harlan county constable, and Ernest Gilliam, a son of Constable W. H. Gilliam, were killed and Constable Claude Short was fatally shot in a fight Tuesday at Kitts, Harlan county.

TWO PLANES LEAVE MIAMI ON FRIDAY

Remaining Four Army Planes Hop Off Today for Savannah.

Miami, Fla., March 30.—Four of the six de-Havilland army airplanes which reached Miami yesterday from Havana on their Porto Rican flight will hop off from Curtiss field at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, bound for Savannah on their way to Bolling field, Washington, where the 5,365-mile flight will officially end.

Two of the ships left Miami today. Lieutenant R. K. Stoner took to the air this morning en route to Camp Bagg, N. C., where he will spend Easter Sunday with Mrs. Stoner. The other plane, piloted by Lieutenant McDonald, left for Daytona, Fla., where it will take on gasoline, this ship being a smaller one with a more limited gas carrying capacity. These two planes will join the remaining four en route.

The flyers will stop over Easter Sunday in Savannah, resuming their flight Monday. They will land at Fayetteville, N. C., for gas and spend the night at Langley field, Virginia. The final lap to Washington will be made so that the trip will end at Bolling field Tuesday afternoon.

RUSSIANS DONATE RYE TO ASSIST RUHR POPULACE

Hamburg, March 30.—The first cargo of a number of shipments of rye donated by the Russians for the benefit of the Ruhr population arrived by steamship from Rostov today. The cargo, amounting to more than 1,400 tons, will be sent to the Ruhr immediately by rail.

Nickel Picture Show For School Houses Is Plan of Hugo

New York, March 30.—"Nickel shows" for the little red school house in the country as well as the city school buildings are planned by Francis M. Hugo, director-general of the educational and religious motion picture field, he announced today. The object, he stated, was to give the children of America the best educational films to supplement their class room work and entertain them after school hours.

Hamilton P-T. A. Meets.

Hamilton, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—At an enthusiastic meeting of the Hamilton Parent-Teacher association here Thursday, officers of the local organization were named as delegates to the National P-T. A. convention soon to be held in Atlanta. The resignation of Mrs. L. B. Mobley as president of the local organization was accepted and Mrs. J. R. Lunsford elected as her successor. Miss Georgia Holt is secretary.

BRITAIN PENSIONS EX-ARMY PIGEONS

London, March 30.—Ex-service pigeons which were under fire several times during the war, while carrying messages for the British army have been pensioned off by the war department to the care of a keeper, whose duty it will be to see that they are properly cared for until they die.

LIQUOR CONSPIRACY TRIAL REACHES JURY

Over 200 Witnesses Testify in Sensational Lake County Case.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—The case of sixty-three defendants in the Lake county liquor conspiracy trial in federal court here was given to the jury at 3:30 p.m. today. Closing argument for the government was given late in the day by United States District Attorney Homer Elliott, of Milwaukee. Justice F. G. Geiger, of Milwaukee, presiding, gave the jury his instructions. The juryman began deliberations immediately.

More than 200 witnesses have testified during the trial which has been in progress nearly three weeks and a mass of evidence has been introduced by both sides. Due to the complexity of the case and the large number of defendants involved officials expressed the opinion that a verdict would not be reached by the jury before tomorrow.

After the jury retired from the court room, Judge Geiger announced court would reconvene at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to await the verdict.

In instructing the jury, Judge Geiger dwelt at length on the charges against the defendants, that of conspiracy to obstruct enforcement of the prohibition law. He defined the nature of the crime of conspiracy and indicated in a general way the various phases of the crime and the various ways by which it might be committed. He stated that a conspiracy exists whether there has been a confederation or a getting together to accomplish an unlawful purpose, as has been charged, he said. In order to establish the existence of a conspiracy, it is necessary to establish the fact that some or any of the defendants intentionally conspired against the law, he declared.

Referring to the city and county officials under indictment, Judge Geiger said it was the duty of the jury to inquire into the relation of defendants holding public office with law violators. He added that if facts proved in those public office to be remiss in respect to law violators, they, the public officials, became co-conspirators. "It is my opinion that if the evidence of the government is to be believed, there certainly was at one time a conspiracy such as charged in the indictment," said Judge Geiger.

Previous to the instruction of the jury by Judge Geiger, Mr. Elliott delivered the closing argument for the government with a review of the evidence submitted by the prosecution during the trial. Mr. Elliott said that in the opinion of the prosecution, the bootleggers, lawyers, police force of Gary, and city and county officials all worked together to accomplish the common end of preventing enforcement of the liquor laws.

Mr. Elliott arraigned the defendants, one and one, and paid particular attention to the case against the Lake county officials. He attempted to show that the practice of suspending sentences on liquor charges in the city court was a scheme involving the county officials and others to build up a strongly entrenched political machine and foster a lucrative business of bootlegging.

LOWER COAL PRICES FOR SPRING UNLIKELY

Such Is Opinion of Manager of Large Independent Operator.

Hazleton, Pa., March 30.—There is not likely to be any spring cut in the price of domestic anthracite coal, according to A. B. Jessup, general manager of the Jeddo Highland Coal company, one of the large concerns in the independent group of operators. He said today that the market is strong for domestic grades and that the cost of production remains high. It has been the custom up to a year ago to reduce the price 50 cents a ton on April 1, to stimulate buying and then increase it 10 cents monthly up to September, when the old rate was again reached.

Manager Jessup said that the price of steam sizes fell 50 cents a ton within the last week owing to competition with the soft coal market.

PLOT TO TAMPER WITH OHIO JURORS TO BE PROBED

Wheeling, W. Va., March 30.—A. V. Wood, assistant prosecuting attorney, said today he was investigating what appeared to him to be an attempt to influence Ohio county grand jurors who have been called to investigate the charge that John Buska, of Yorkville, Ohio, circulated seditious literature in this country.

According to Mr. Wood, he was given a letter by a man, whose name he withheld, which had been written by the stationery of the American Civil Liberties union, and signed by Roger N. Baldwin, of New York city. The letter, the prosecutor declared, was addressed to the grand jurors in Wheeling, informing them that "anything you can do to have the matter so presented that the grand jury will not find an indictment, will be appreciated."

The letter said, Mr. Wood announced, that a local committee of Buska's defense was being organized by J. J. Hugo, of Bellefonte, Ohio. Hugo was recently defeated for the subdistrict presidency of the United Mine Workers in eastern Ohio.

The man who gave him the letter, Mr. Wood said, was not in sympathy with the suggestions it contained.

Orchestra Music Is Not Nuisance, Declares Court

New York, March 30.—Orchestra music in the Bohemian atmosphere of Greenwich Village is not sufficient grounds for charging a restaurant with maintaining a public nuisance, according to a ruling today of the special sessions court. Robert Cushman, proprietor of a cafe at West Twentieth street, was discharged.

Justice Sulmon, in rendering the decision said Cushman's license implied that he might have music at his restaurant and permitted him to invite the public. Cushman could hardly be held responsible for the conduct of his patrons after they reached the sidewalk. Justice Sulmon stated, adding that "he is no different from the proprietor of a hotel and restaurant where music and dancing prevail." There was no evidence that the cafe was sold in the cafe, the court said.

On request of Assistant District Attorney Cushman a charge against Cushman of impairing the morals of minors in connection with the operation of the cafe was set for April 9.

The same court acquitted Cushman several weeks ago of conducting a disorderly house.

NEED FOR BUILDINGS HERE, HAMBUR SAYS

Will Confer With Local Men
in Reference to Immense Building Program.

New building projects of considerable magnitude are under negotiation in Atlanta, according to Harvey F. Hambur, one of the chief executives of the loan department of S. W. Straus and company, who arrived here Friday accompanied by P. S. Marlowe, head of the architectural department of S. W. Straus and company. Mr. Hambur will remain in Atlanta for a week during which time he will be in conference with local capitalists and builders.

"This is the second trip I have made to this city within 60 days and while I am not in a position to make any definite statements regarding the negotiations which brought me here, I can say that our company is very much interested in the development of this city. We believe in Atlanta and look with favor on the policy of making loans on new building projects here. While I am here I expect to look into several important propositions that have been brought to our attention," Mr. Hambur stated.

Ready for Conference.
"Of course, any loan we made here would have to comply with the usual standards of the Straus plan, which are generally well known to builders and others interested in new construction projects. I wish to say also that while I am in Atlanta I shall be glad to confer with anyone here who has a proposition to discuss with me provided it is in keeping with the time-honored policies in the underwriting of first mortgage real estate bond issues."

"There is a great deal of potential building in this city. Quite a number of large building projects are now being discussed and it would not surprise me if some important announcements along this line were forthcoming before a great while. As a matter of fact Atlanta is in need of more buildings. And as the city develops this need will become more and more apparent."

Does Not Advise Delay.
"It would not be our advice to prospective builders to delay their plans. Our house is in very close touch with the building situation throughout the country. In fact, we maintain a building survey which is generally recognized as the most authentic source of information obtainable along these lines. This survey shows that new building operations so far this year have not been gotten under way in the south as extensively as in other parts of the country.

In February, for example, new building permits in the south made a gain of only 10 per cent over the corresponding period last year, while in the central western states the gain was 96 per cent, and in the eastern states 331-2 per cent. The need for new buildings is just as great in the south as it is in other sections, therefore it is a matter of simple logic that unprecedented building activities will be gotten under way in this section in the near future. This condition may cause shortages of material and labor here and there, as is the case in the east and central west at the present time. We believe, therefore, that it is not a good policy to put off new building projects in the south for an indefinite period, but that other things being equal, it is expedient to go ahead with new construction plans at the present time," he concluded.

In company with Colonel James A. Callagy, manager of the Atlanta office of S. W. Straus and company, Mr. Hambur visited a number of properties Friday where prospective new building operations are under consideration.

CHARLES MARTIN DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

Funeral Services for Pioneer Atlantan Will Be Held Today.

Funeral services for Charles James Martin, 78 years old, for the past 60 years a resident of this city, who died at his residence 867 Peachtree street, at 11 o'clock Friday morning after an illness of three weeks, will be held from the residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in the family plot at Oakland cemetery. Valueres will be J. E. Kirk, J. H. Alexander, Marion M. Jackson, J. J. Egan, W. D. Beattie and T. F. Brown. Dr. B. R. Lacer, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church; Dr. R. O. Finn and Dr. S. L. Morris will officiate. Members, elders and deacons of the Central Presbyterian church will serve as an escort.

In 1870, Mr. Martin and two brothers, John S. and W. A. Martin, founded a wholesale grocery business in Chattanooga, Tenn., but owing to the illness of his wife, a part of his affiliations in Atlanta, he did not move to Tennessee. He retired from active business more than 10 years ago.

Serving as a member of the home mission committee of the Southern Presbyterian church, Mr. Martin had the distinction of never having missed a meeting of that committee for over 22 years. He was affiliated with the Central Presbyterian church shortly after having made his residence here. Mr. Martin served as chairman of the board of deacons, treasurer of the church and elder, which position he held at the time of his death.

He was married in 1872 to Miss Lula Wallace, daughter of the late Campbell Wallace, prominent Atlanta pioneer. His only son, Campbell Wallace Martin, of Atlanta, died in 1906. Surviving Mr. Martin are his widow, ten nephews, W. A. Martin, John G. Martin, John S. Martin and Ernest Martin, all of Chattanooga, Tenn.; John M. Lofton, of Little Rock, Ark.; Joseph L. Myratt, R. O. Wallace and C. B. Wallace, Jr., all of Atlanta; Will Wallace, of Lumberton, Miss.; and C. Wallace, of Knoxville, Tenn.; and eight nieces, Miss Anna Martin, Mrs. D. G. Kirkland and Mrs. Adolph Ochs, Jr., all of Chattanooga; Mrs. Joseph Dart, of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Waite Hamrick, of Chester, S. C.; Miss Alice Myratt and Miss Margaret Wallace, both of Atlanta.

Easter Wear for Girls

YOU haven't chosen your Easter apparel yet, you say? My! My! And there's only one day left! Sounds discouraging—but it isn't half as bad as it sounds, for High's Children's Shop is always filled with tempting fashions for girls and here prices always have a habit of being less than you'd expect, even the day before Easter.

Capes and Coats, $5.98 to $16.50

—Easter day may have a chilly breeze (April weather is so uncertain), but girls won't care. It only gives them an opportunity to wear one of these fashionable capes or coats. They're of tweeds, velours, checked velours and burellas. Some have fancy stitching, some are trimmed with buckles and buttons, some have throw collars. Sizes 2 to 6 are $5.98 to $10.85. Sizes 7 to 14 are $5.98 to $16.50.

Easter Hats at $3.98 to $7.98

—Whether she wants a tailored hat to wear with a cape or coat or a dressy hat to wear with a dainty little frock, she can find just the hat she wants at High's. In fine Milan or leghorn straw and some of silk. Sports models, rolled brims and large brims. Streamered, banded or trimmed with flowers and fruit.

Easter Dresses Are All Loveliness

Organdy or voile frocks—here in many lovely styles. They're trimmed with frills, ruffles, ribbon girdles, lace edges and lace medallions. Sizes 6 to 14 years. $4.98 to $9.98.

Georgette dresses—many of them in white; some of them in lovely tints of peach, Nile and orchid. They're run with tiny tucks, edged with laces and with wheels of lace in the skirt, and some of them are frill trimmed. Sizes 6 to 14 years. $9.98 to $19.98.

Silk Dresses—of taffeta, crepe de chine and printed crepe de chine. Trimmed with frills, long sashes, novel girdles, bright embroidery, loose panels, unusual sleeves, etc. One has a cascade of gay printed silk and a solid colored skirt, another is of all-over printed silk, some have fruit and flowers at girdles. Sizes to fit girls of 6 to 14 years are priced $6.98 to $19.98.

Little Girls' Dresses—Sizes 2 to 6 years. Of soft white voile, organdy or marquisette. Yokes of fine pin tucks combined with lace, hemstitching, yokes of colored smocking, little bows of corded ribbon and many other dainty touches mark these frocks. $2.98 to $6.98.

PAYMASTER KILLED BY AUTO BANDITS

New York Scene of Daring Hold-Up Which Nets Slayed $4,000.

New York, March 30.—Capping a series of hold-ups in Greater New York within the last few days, five motor bandits today shot and killed Thomas K. Phillips, paymaster of the Duncan Construction company in Long Island city and escaped with a $4,000 payroll.

The fatal bullet, passing through Phillips' body, broke a window in the automobile from which he had just stepped and shattered fragments of glass into the eyes of his companion, Charles C. Cain, of Brooklyn, employed as a superintendent by the company. It was feared tonight that Cain would lose his sight.

Grabbing the payroll, the bandits fled toward Brooklyn, where their car later was found abandoned.

The hold-up occurred at one of the busiest spots in Long Island City, whither the paymaster and his companion had driven from the bank to pay off a gang of workmen.

Phillips had just stepped from his car when another machine, containing five robbers, drew in behind him. The street was crowded with vehicles and pedestrians.

Only one of the bandits got out. He walked up to Phillips and shot him dead. Not a word was uttered.

Picking up the payroll bag, which Phillips dropped when he fell, the robber tossed it to his companion, stepped aboard his car which already was moving, and sped away.

Mrs. Margaret Austin, of Philadelphia, driving along in an automobile, saw Phillips fall. She drove back a block and picking up Traffic Officer Philip Dampano, returned to the scene of the crime, but the bandit car had disappeared.

Fugitive Major Found Disguised As an Old Man

Alleged Absconder Arrested in Apartment on Riverside Drive.

New York, March 30.—Disguised as an old man, Louis F. Derode, of Baltimore, formerly a major in the United States marine corps, was arrested today as a fugitive from justice in Baltimore in an apartment on Riverside drive, which he was alleged to have been occupying with a young woman. Baltimore authorities said he was charged with absconding with $52,000 worth of securities.

Derode, who was said to be 31, and married, was reported by the Baltimore police to have been an executor of the estate of his uncle, Dr. L. C. Carrio, a prominent physician residing in Charles county, Maryland. Detectives said they found in the apartment $10,465 in cash, $30,000 in negotiable securities and a bank book made out to "Morton Fox," showing deposits of $3,072.

The officers said they were met at the door by the young woman, whose name is being withheld. Over her protests, they entered the suite to be confronted by an old man, with white hair and mustache, bending over a cane.

"We know you, you'd better come through," said one of the detectives, who added that Derode then had drawn himself up dramatically to his full six feet and whipped off a false mustache.

According to the police, Derode used the disguise to escape from that city March 29, the detectives said he donned the disguise whenever he left the apartment.

Derode is said by the police to have admitted the charges against him and to be willing to waive extradition.

SCENE PATHETIC AS LUNACY CHARGE IS HEARD IN ROME

Boys Learn How Presidential Contests Are Conducted—Novel Stunts Are Offered by Students.

Rome, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) A most pathetic scene was enacted in Ordinary Johnson's office Friday when Mrs. Bessie Morrison was arraigned on a charge of lunacy, while her three children, bright and handsome boys, were grouped about her and her husband and his father testified against her sanity.

Mrs. Morrison is a young woman of prepossessing appearance and, according to the testimony of both her relatives on the stand, is an ideal wife and mother except when she is subject, as they stated, to unaccountable fits of passion, during which she abuses her husband and breaks up the furniture.

Mrs. Morrison bitterly denied the statements of her husband and father-in-law as to cursing, but admitted that she is sometimes violent of temper, but claimed that this was only when she was not feeling well. Following the hearing, the young woman was taken to the Frances Berrien hospital to await the decision of the jury.

States. The sentencing of these church dignitaries, while justified on purely legal grounds by the soviet authorities, has nevertheless offended the moral sense of the Christian nations and given the enemies of the soviet new impetus. For some time, due largely to the support of Senator Borah, friends of the soviet had been making headway with their efforts to bring about recognition. The American government was ready to open diplomatic relations once the soviet had given satisfactory assurances regarding protection of foreign owned property, agreed to recognize debts contracted by previous regimes and show a desire to observe the practices of international law.

Secretary Lansing had given the words, "special interests." "It has been the view of the government of the United States," he said, "that this reference to special interests in China did not recognize any right or claim inconsistent with the sovereignty or political independence of China or with our 'open door' policy, a claim that the negotiations of the nine-power treaty was itself the most formal declaration of execution policy in relation to China."

scope, duration or geographical extent is calculated to frustrate the practical application of the principle of equal opportunity.

President Harding held recently, in a statement submitted to the senate in response to a resolution calling for information concerning the Lansing-Ishii agreement, that the nine-power treaty would "completely set at rest" any question which might have been raised under that agreement. He said:

Harding's View.
"Happily, as a result of the (Washington) conference, it is not necessary to consider any possible ambiguity in the expressions used in the Lansing-Ishii agreement of 1917, as any question which they might have raised has been completely set at rest by the treaty... which the United States and Japan are parties."

The president also pointed out that he endorsed the interpretation which

TWO FIREMEN DIE IN NEW YORK FIRE

Four Old Buildings of Metropolis Destroyed.
Sixteen Firemen Are Injured.

New York, March 30.—Four century-old buildings, lying in the center of the city's oldest manufacturing district, were destroyed today by fire.
Under the crumbling rough stone walls two firemen met death and 16 of their comrades were injured. The property loss was estimated at $750,000.

Discovered shortly after 4 o'clock in the 26th street structure occupied by a paper box factory and a laundry,

the fire soon spread to adjoining buildings, caught chemicals in a litho-graphic and printing establishment and was raging in four buildings when the first fire apparatus arrived. At their height, the flames threatened the Bellevue hospital buildings, a short block away and preparations were made to remove patients.

Families in tenements near the fire were compelled to leave their homes because of the smoke. Infants, left in their cribs by frightened parents, were carried out by policemen.
Julius Spanier and William Aiello were leading a line of hose to the center of burning structures when the walls began crumbling. One of their comrades was buried in a pile of debris. Aiello tried to pull him out, and he too was buried. Then there came a dull explosion, the entire inside of the building collapsed, and Spanier fell. Six of the 16 who were injured suffered severe fractures.
Aiello and Spanier died in Bellevue hospital. Aiello's wife arrived at his cot a moment after he died and collapsed.

Spanier's wife and mother were with him when he died, but he had not regained consciousness.
The firms whose plants were destroyed are Universal Circle Paper

Box company, Triangle Sheet Metal company and the Madison Square Wetwash laundry, all in 26th street, and the J. H. Tooke Printing and Lithographing company, on 27th street. Plans in four other concerns were damaged.

More than 30 engine and truck companies and 200 firemen were engaged in fighting the blaze.

British Tiring Of Bonar Law Tranquility Idea

Premier Now Plans to Inject
"Pep" Into His Administration.

BY RALPH H. TURNER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
London, March 30.—Premier Bonar Law, realizing that he has carried "tranquility" too far, is determined to inject a little American "pep" into his administration.

Disappointment with the government, as shown in the recent elections
and debates in the house of commons, has served as a warning to the conservatives to form a policy that is definite and precise.

The question of a new government
—the return of David Lloyd George or an ascent to power by the labor party
—does not enter into the situation in its present status.

England had become weary of the feverish gymnastics provided by Lloyd George who had a policy for everything and then some policies to spare.
Frequently he had too many policies for one subject, according to a prevalent complaint, and England demanded a rest.

This return to placidity so dear to the Englishman was promised by Bonar Law under the guise of "tranquility."

But appearances now indicate that the conservative reaction from the Georgian pyrotechnics has gone too far—that it has approached something akin to lassitude. The government critics are now beginning to use the phrase that was used against the democrats by the republicans in the last election in the United States
—"No pep," be done with wiggle and wobble."

The recent attacks on Bonar Law's prestige related to the housing of the people.

The government was indecisive
about what it was going to do.
If it removed the control over rents,
the landlords would raise their rates and, failing to collect, would turn out the tenants. The middle-class revellers and many artisans started an exodus to the United States and the dominions.

Now the advisers of Bonar Law are urging him, for the good of the party, to take some definite steps in the housing and Ruhr crises.

Thus, a government returned on a platform of tranquility, which is similar to the Harding program of "normalcy," is being forced to steer away from its system of rest cure—
to become more definite and less tranquil. And the moral of it all seems to be that tranquility and normalcy, desirable as they may be, have slight chance of establishing themselves under the present disturbed condition of the world.

Rockefeller Junior
Has Weekly Income
Of Merely $229,742

New York, March 30.—Each week
$229,742 accrues to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in dividends from stock owned by him in nine Standard Oil companies, it is revealed by a calculation made by Dow Jones & Co., from testimony given in the senate's recent investigation of the oil industry.

The younger Rockefeller's annual dividends from his stock in the companies—approximately one-sixth of all shares—total close to $12,000,000, it was shown. At present prices his holdings in these nine companies are worth approximately $410,000,000.

The concerns are the Atlantic Refining company, the Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California, Ohio Oil company, Prairie Oil and Gas, Prairie Pine Line, Standard of New York, Illinois Pipe Line and the Vacuum Oil company.

The elder Rockefeller, founder of the Standard Oil group, is not the owner of as much as one per cent of the stock of any of these companies,
the survey shows.

SON OF HETTY GREEN
NOW "REJUVENATED"

New York, March 30.—Colonel Edward H. R. Green, son of the late Hetty Green, enjoying in Florida waters since he underwent the Steinach "rejuvenation" operation last month, has written friends here that he is feeling better than he had in fifteen years, it was learned today.

First news of the operation, which was declared to have been successful, as published in The New York Times, declares that Colonel Green spent a week in recuperation in his hotel suite after leaving St. Elizabeth's hospital following the delicate surgery. Accompanied by Mrs. Green he then went to Florida, where he rented the houseboat Pioneer after President Harding's party had finished with it.

The Times today also announced what it describes as the true story of the operation performed on Harold F. McCormick, of Chicago, husband of Ganna Walska, declaring that it had been erroneously reported that he had submitted to a gland transplantation procedure. It is stated that he, too, was given the Steinach
"rejuvenation" treatment under advice of Dr. Adolph Lorenz, Viennese bloodless surgeon, who himself had undergone treatment and claimed to have been "rejuvenated" as a result.

DAMAGE BY TYPHOON
ON GUAM $200,000

Agana, Guam, March 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—A typhoon of moderate intensity struck the island of Guam last Saturday, raged for four days with varying degrees of velocity, and finally receded without causing any loss of life but leaving in its wake property damages estimated at $200,000. The gale attained a velocity of more than 75 miles an hour at times.

LENINE IS DYING SAYS STOCKHOLM

Soviet Legislature Is Reported to Have Received a Confidential Message From Moscow Bedside.

London, March 30.—Premier Lenine is dying, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Stockholm today, quoting the Swedisch Dagbladet, as telegraphing that the soviet legation in Helsingfors has received a confidential message from Moscow to that effect. The paralysis in his right arm is spreading, according to the dispatch.

After his death, the quoted message adds, a military dictatorship will be established, headed by Minister of War Trotsky, with four or five associates.

The Moscow official bulletin of March 9 said Premier Lenin's condition was unchanged except for a slight improvement in temperature.

Italy, Belgium, France United Toward Germany

Assertion of Accord Made in Statement From Belgian Government.

Brussels, March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—There is complete accord between the Italian, French and Belgian governments concerning their attitude toward Germany.

This official announcement was made today in a communique issued supply-mentary to one given out earlier, at the conclusion of a conference of King Albert, Premier Theunis, and Foreign Minister Jaspar, the foreign minister having just returned from Milan.

Albert, accompanied by his daughter, Princess Marie Jose, will leave for Italy tomorrow. The ostensible purpose of his trip, plans for which were announced sometime ago, is to meet Queen Elizabeth, who is returning from Egypt by way of Brindisi.

An official communique, issued after the conference, says:
"M. Jaspar, minister of foreign af-airs, returned today from Milan, where, as it is known, he had gone on personal business. He was happy to seize upon the occasion of his brief sojourn in Italy to meet Premier Mussolini and discuss with him various political problems of the present hour.
The minister returned much satisfied with the exchange of views and also with the courtesies which the chief of the Italian government extended to him."

M. Jaspar acquainted the king and premier with the conversation he had with Signor Mussolini. The conversation having in mind the information imparted today by M. Jaspar. There seems to be a vague pessimistic feeling in some quarters, however, that the Belgian minister of foreign affairs and the Italian premier were not in accord on one of the most important problems of foreign policy now before the world.

It is admitted that the Belgian royal family will meet the Italian sovereigns officially during their stay in Rome, and those closer to the court than politics say that far from disavow-ing the Ruhr problem with the Italian royalty they think the question of an alliance between the Belgian royal house and the house of Savoy—which has been so often reported—would be the subject of conversation. Officialdom on the other hand, declares it has nothing to say about such an alliance or politics.

SOUTHERN TRAINS
COLLIDE IN S. C.

Columbia, S. C., March 30.—Southern railway train number 67 running between Blackville, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., collided with train number 22 running from Savannah to Columbia at Yonem, 13 miles south of Blackville, this morning at 11:30 o'clock and the engines of both trains were destroyed. C. K. Fickling, fire man of Columbia, was the only one injured and not seriously. The main line was blocked as the result of the collision and a wrecking crew was ordered to the scene. No passengers were hurt, according to the Southern officers here.

Not only does its delicious flavor and aroma appeal to the palate but it supplies the body with a considerable amount of pure, wholesome and nutritious food.

Children, owing to their almost ceaseless activity, frequently require as large an amount of nourishment as adults, and good cocoa is a valuable aid in the carefully

Sims Says U. S. Military Record Is 'Disgraceful'

Retired Naval Commander Scores Unpreparedness in San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 30.—The military history of the United States was characterized as "disgraceful"
and appalling by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, in an address today before the Commonwealth club here.
Unnecessary sacrifice of blood and treasure as the result of unpreparedness from a record of which America
caped, he said, was the theme of his address.

In introducing the admiral, Dr. William F. Cheney said, "once he was called upon to play the part of lying in the Daniel's den, but at all times
he has been true to the interests of his country."

Admiral Sims said there was great need for submarines and airplanes as a first line of defense. He criticized the navy department severely for its conduct in the last war.

Turning to the naval situation at present and stressing the need for airplanes and submarines, the speaker said:

"The situation is much worse now than it was in 1913. Thirty years have been fought since the armistice was signed. What of the possible combination of Germany and Russia with the Balkan states? Let me fight it out, we say. It's none of our affair. But suppose Great Britain also should be drawn into the war by the victorious European coalition.
Then?"

Speaking later before the English-speaking union, the admiral launched a broadside against the Ku Klux Klan, which he said was a political party, not a race bloc and Sinn Feiners.

"The Ku Klux Klan is the most pernicious, most cowardly bloc," Admiral Sims said. "It assumes the right to judge, jury and executioner. Its methods enable bands of criminals to commit murder with comparative impunity, behind masks."
"It is even such an organization, or anyone attempting minority rule, is as dangerous," the admiral continued,
"than one that systematically poisons
the minds of young men and encourages voters with hatred of a friendly country."

TREASURY TO GET
REQUIRED SILVER
BY FIRST OF JULY

Washington, March 30.—Prediction that the treasury requirements of silver bullion, purchased under the Pittman act, would be fulfilled by July 1,
was made tonight by Director Scobey
of the mint. He said that about 20, 000,000 fine ounces remain to be bought under the act and estimated that with silver production averaging between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000 ounces monthly purchases during the next three months will make up the amount needed.

The purchases will stop abruptly
when the requirements have been met and for that reason, the director said, every effort will be made to assure to American miners the full benefits of the act "up to the latest possible date."

The announcement of Scobey recalled
the situation when, during the war,
the British government needed
silver badly for shipment to India where silver constitutes the major coinage. Since the war it has been permitted to become known that the Indian government regarded immediate shipment of the metal to them as the only means of staying off what threatened to result in interneece strife as Russia, it was feared, the government would be unable to cope.
American silver dollars were turned over to the British government on the day the Pittman act was signed by President Wilson and the ship sped away to India.

GEORGIA NEGRO
OLDEST RETIRED
U. S. EMPLOYEE

Washington, March 30.—The oldest employee on the retired list of the government is Mark Thrash, a negro 102 years of age, of Rossville, Ga., according to the bureau of pensions.
Thrash, who was born December 15, 1820, in Louisa county, Va., was for 40 years a slave, the property of Dr.
Christopher Thrash of Virginia, who brought him to a plantation in Meriwether county, Ga., where he entered government service at Chickamauga, retiring with an annuity for life after 28 years of service closing as a laborer at Chattanooga National park. After the civil war Thrash was freed, returned to Arkansas, returning to Chattanooga to work upon construction of the Central of Georgia railroad.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION BILL PASSES SENATE

Nashville, Tenn., March 30.—The senate of the general assembly this afternoon passed the Anderson-Washington public utilities commission bill by a vote of 23 to 3. The bill, it was explained on the floor, restores in part the right to the cities of the state to contract with the public utilities corporations, but the inter-county utilities are left under the control of the state public utilities commission.
A provision in the bill to increase the membership of the railroad and public utilities commission was stricken out.
A special attorney at a salary of $8,000 was provided for the commission under the provisions of the bill.

The bill sponsored by Senators Gail-or and Bryan, of Shelby and Hamilton counties, respectively, which would give to those cities desiring the right to make their own contracts with utilities corporations, was tabled by a vote of 18 to 9.

The senate also passed the bill submitting a $75,000,000 highway bond issue to a vote of the people. The bill to provide an election for constitutional convention candidates if the people vote to hold a convention was passed.

Say Mine Guards Killed First Man Slain at Herrin

Witnesses for Defense Testify Unarmed Union Miner
First to Fall.

Marion, Ill., March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—A rain of lead suddenly poured on a peaceful countryside from a hidden machine gun and rifles fired by mine guards killed
the first man, an unarmed union miner, slain during the outbreak, witnesses for the defense testified today at the Herrin riots trial.

Until the importation of armed guards about June 15, last, to patrol
the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company, while it was being operated by non-union men, witnesses declared that there had been no trouble since the shutdown April 1.

"We have come down here to work
this mine, union or non-union," Lucien Tucker, one of the eighteen witnesses who took the stand during the day, quoted C. K. McDowell, superintendent of the mine as saying to him: "We're going to work it if we have to work it in blood. Tell the union men to keep away."

Tucker asserted that McDowell then showed him two rapid fire rifles which worked from the hip, a "red" gun operated on a tripod and about a box of ammunition. He said the mine superintendent told him the guns would fire 60 shots a minute.
Other witnesses accused the guards of holding up, assisting and robbing persons passing near the mine on the public road. Some said they had been threatened with death unless they kept away from the mine property.
Two witnesses swore they had seen the guards place a gun in position on top of the mine dump and conceal it behind a clump of bushes on June 21.
They testified that two or three volleys were fired from this gun before they heard any shots fired from outside the mine.

MARINES WITHDRAW FROM INTERIOR HAITI

Washington, March 30.—As a further step in the gradual removal of American Marines from Haiti, the state department advised received today said orders had been issued for their withdrawal from interior posts.
By April 15 only one marine guard will be left in the interior, at St.
Michel, where a quantity of marine corps equipment is stored.

CRIME INCREASING, BOYKIN DECLARES

Presents Figures to Show That More Murders Are Committed in Georgia Than in Britain.

Quoting figures to show that more murders are committed in Georgia than in the British Isles and that of the 3,500 or more convicts in the state last year, approximately 1,400 were serving sentences for homicides, John A. Boykin, solicitor of the Atlanta circuit, in an address Friday before the Citizens club, told of the increasing seriousness of general crime conditions throughout the United States.

"Since 1910 the increase in burglaries in the United States has been 1,200 per cent," he said, "and that uncertainty of punishment, inadequate courts and resultant delays in trials and the interference of 'sympathy' committees are some of the factors responsible for such conditions."

Things 'Out of Joint.'
"I have read a great deal about the so-called 'crime wave' over the country," Solicitor Boykin continued, "and I have given the situation considerable thought. The more I study it I give it the more I am impressed that things are 'out of joint,' and I regard the situation as rather alarming."

"In the United States one person out of every 12,000 is unlawfully killed. While in England only one is killed out of every 112,000."

"In Chicago there are four times as many murders committed as in the entire Dominion of Canada. That city alone has nearly four times as many burglaries as Canada."

30,000 Autos Stolen.
"It is estimated that in 28 of the largest cities 30,000 automobiles were stolen in 1921. In New York city alone one automobile out of every 30 is stolen."

"Banks, as well protected as they are with their massive vaults and guards, sustained a total loss of $1,224,489 during the year ending August, 1922. That figure, couched by the American Bankers' association from its 23,032 member banks, does not include the loss of 9,611 non-member banks throughout the country."

Mr. Boykin quoted Sir Basil Thompson, head of Scotland yards, as saying that 90 per cent of all professional criminals enter upon their unlawful career before reaching the age of 21.

"Rather than to detect crime, he said, the problem before the authorities is to protect the youth of the land from contact with criminals and environments tending to encourage a criminal career."

Anti-Pistol Law.
He called attention to England's national law against the possession of revolvers by anyone except officers of the law and by citizens in their own homes, and asserted that such a law in this country would tend to greatly diminish homicides.

He agreed with Chief Justice Taft in his declaration before a recent New York civic forum that the authorities are handicapped in the administration of justice by the activities of ill-advised citizens who interest themselves in behalf of persons about to be convicted or who have already been convicted and approach judges and prosecuting attorneys and governors in efforts to secure lenient paroles, pardons, commutations and in other ways seek to arouse sympathy for criminals.

"I have no confidence in the verdicts they render, and frequently a juror, after participating in the conviction of a murderer, remarks, 'Well, I can't see how he'll ever get hung,'" Solicitor Boykin concluded.

Upshaw Renamed Head of Juvenile Protective Body
Budget of $100,000 Planned for Junior Republic of South.

Representative W. D. Upshaw was re-elected president of the Juvenile Protective association at the annual meeting of that organization held in the Ansley hotel Friday. Delegates from many southern states were in attendance, officials announced, and the session was one of the most enthusiastic ever held.

Other officers elected were: Judge M. Henry Cohen, first vice president; C. L. Anderson, second vice president; J. J. Frazier, Glen, Nashville, N. C., third vice president; E. N. Lowe, of Jackson, Miss., fourth vice president; H. G. Walker, assistant cashier of the Atlanta National bank, treasurer, and Crawford Jackson was re-elected as general secretary.

Board of Trustees.
Those elected to serve as members of the board of trustees were as follows: R. A. Rodgers, Florence, Ala.; Edgar Reibman, L. McCord, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Chief Justice R. W. Russell, H. H. Walker and R. W. Aigler, of Atlanta; Mr. M. M. Parks, superintendent of public education of Georgia; W. G. Burgin, of Rock Hill, S. C.; and Mrs. Clara Henderson, of Griffin, Ga.

In the annual report of the secretary he touched upon the Junior Republic of the South, a project for the education of juvenile delinquents, undertaken by the association. A large tract of land on which work shops and school buildings are to be erected for this purpose was purchased by the association recently.

A fund of $100,000 will be raised in the near future to finance this undertaking. When it is completed it will be the largest institution of its nature in the south.

Addresses were delivered by Chief Justice Russell, Congressman Upshaw, Judge Cohen, Mrs. Clara Henderson and Professor William Burgin.

Report of Activities.
Following is a summarized report of the secretary of the association's activities for the past year:

1. One hundred and seventy-two visits have been made by me to various cities and communities in the south, a few of them visited more than once.

2. Counting an average of only 12 persons interviewed each day—evidently an underestimate—your general secretary has talked privately to at least 4,300 persons in the interest of our varied work.

3. Fifty-seven addresses, several of them by other persons, have been delivered to approximately 25,000 people.

4. About 18,242 letters have been sent, many of them containing explanatory literature.

5. At least 15,000 annual reports, folders and other printed matter have been posted or otherwise distributed.

6. $15,442.22 has been raised chiefly by the general secretary. Every bill has been paid, though the general secretary has been forced to pay out of his own pocket for the Junior Republic of the South. But it is an occasion for joy and gratitude that we have never, since being chartered, closed a year in arrears.

7. In communities where we paved the way for the juvenile court system—in many instances organizing it so that it might speedily bear fruit—there have been our chosen assistants in eight southern states as many as 4,800 (being increased by every mail) of our delegates, dependents, and a general average of 52 per cent were reported as properly placed, or cases dismissed, or doing well on probation.

8. One hundred and twenty-two conferences have been held with judges, mayors, probation officers and parents.

9. There have been secured directly or indirectly by authorities who pledged themselves to secure 34 juvenile court judges and probation officers.

A luncheon in honor of the delegates was given at the Pine room of the Ansley at noon, at which Congressman Upshaw presided. Brief talks were made by Richard Cadbury, Jr., of Chicago, and J. L. Orr, of the United States department of labor, of Washington, D. C., and Professor J. L. Orr, probation officer, of Fort Myers, Fla.

Denver, Colo., March 30.—Gold, in a vein four feet in width and said by mining men to represent a value of thousands of dollars, has been struck in the Forest Queen (making Cripple Creek, Colo., in which Lou Blonger, convicted leader of Denver's alleged nationwide confidence ring, holds an ownership interest. It was revealed definitely here today.

The information was received just two days after Blonger, who is 72 years old, was indicted in the Denver county jail following his conviction with the 19 other members of the alleged ring.

Gold was struck in the mine which is held under lease by Edward Gaylord of Denver, while workmen were boring through from the W. P. H. mine to the Forest Queen to establish an air connection.

ATTEMPTED FRAUD SCHEME CHARGED IN TAMPA ARREST

Adolph Blinder has been arrested in Tampa, Fla., charged with fraudulent use of the mails, according to telegraphic report from Postoffice Inspector Reese at Tampa to Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge, Atlanta division.

Prior to the time of his arrest, Blinder was using the alias of Harold Phillips, according to the postal authorities. On March 19, a letter was mailed at Tampa to certain relatives of Harold Phillips in New York.

In this letter, the authorities said, Blinder set forth that he (making use of the name of Harold Phillips) had gotten into trouble through an automobile ride with a rich lady. He was speeding, wrecked the machine, badly injured the rich companion, and the police seized his car.

The letter closed with a request that his relatives get together all funds possible and mail to him at a Tampa address, where he would be in hiding under the name of Adolph Blinder.

Relatives of Phillips in New York got in touch with him by wire, learned that the letter supposed to have come from him was fictitious, and turned it over to the authorities.

It was placed in the hands of Mr. Johnston, who directed Inspector Reese to investigate, with the result that Blinder was taken into custody.

Well-Dressed Young Woman Held Under Charges of Forgery

A well-dressed young woman giving her name as Mrs. Eva Pierson, and her address as 26 Carnegie way, is being held at the police barracks under a charge of forgery, preferred by Special Officer Vic D. Young, of the Stores Mutual Protective association.

The officer claims that the young woman passed checks amounting to approximately $200 in downtown stores, and that the names of well-known Atlantans were forged to them.

Mrs. Pierson protests her innocence of any wrongdoing, claiming that she came into possession of the checks through regular channels, and if they were forged she had no knowledge of it until her arrest.

Frost On Easter Predicted by Local Weather Forecaster

A cold wave, accompanied by frost, plenty of sunshine, with a brisk north wind, is the weather in store for Atlanta today and tomorrow, as announced by C. F. von Hermann, Atlanta's weather forecaster, Friday afternoon.

The forecaster claimed that dampened Atlanta Friday night is stated to give way to sunshine Saturday morning, while the mercury will continue to rise, and we can't tell what kind of a joke the weather gods might play on us.

Easton Will be Entirely Too Chilly for the average spring clothes, he said. "It's April fool day too," he added, "and we can't tell what kind of a joke the weather gods might play on us."

GRINNETT OFFICERS TO FACE TRIAL TODAY

Sheriff E. S. Garner, of Gwinnett county, and Howard Garner, his son and a deputy, and J. M. Bernard, another deputy, are scheduled for a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner V. C. Carter this morning on a charge of conspiracy and accepting bribes.

Sheriff Garner and the two deputies were arrested on Wednesday of last week by federal agents who charged they had been accepting bribes from liquor runners. They were released under bonds of $1,000 each.

Len B. Guillen, representing the three defendants, stated Friday that no statement could be given out by them at this time, but that they would be ready for preliminary hearing when it is called.

ILL HEALTH BLAMED FOR SUICIDE EFFORT

Dan E. Humphries, 27, railroad auditor, who shot himself twice, late Thursday night in the chest with an automatic pistol, remained in a critical condition throughout Friday, with surgeons at the Grady hospital hoping little hope for his recovery. Both bullets entered near the heart. According to hospital officials, in fact, they cannot understand why the first shot failed to paralyze him and make the second one impossible.

Depression from ill health is advanced as the cause by relatives. He is a brother of Judge John D. Humphries, of the Fulton superior court, and Joseph Humphries, well-known Atlanta lawyer.

Mr. Humphries shot himself just before midnight Thursday. He was in the general offices of the Southern Railway company on the fifth floor of the company's building on West Mitchell street, at the time.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED AGAINST POWER CO.

Suit for $14,000 damages was filed in Fulton superior court Friday against the Georgia Railway and Power company by R. W. Turner of Center Hill, as a result of the hand-on collision between two trolley cars on the River line on March 24, in which he was injured. He charged that the accident was due to negligence.

YEGGMEN CASHED TRAVELERS' CHECKS FROM BLOWN SAFE

San Antonio, Texas, March 30.—Yeggmens who blew the safe of the American Railway Express in Shreveport, La., Saturday night, came immediately to San Antonio and cashed several $200 travelers checks at San Antonio banks, it was learned Friday.

Officers believe that the cracksmen have gone to another part of the country. The checks, amounting to $2,000, all of which is a loss to the American Railway Express company, as identification is waived.

The checks stolen were blanks, the yeggmens signed their names to them upon appearance at the banks here, the signatures checked and the money paid. Detectives have descriptions of the men possessing the checks.

Harding's Chances For Another Term

One blast from the bugle of Harry Daugherty sets the wild echoes flying in every corner of the land. The Attorney-General's confident declaration that President Harding will be renominated without opposition, and will be "again overwhelmingly elected," is a signal that the political shooting for the next Presidential campaign is now in order. Why the Harding hat should be "shielded" into the ring so early puzzles some observers, who wonder if certain rivals are getting this notice to keep out. Some sort of contest seems indicated, we are assured, and with the President making twenty speeches in defense of his policies, and constructing planks for a re-election platform; with Senator W. E. Borah outlining his own policies, both foreign and domestic in a series of well-advertised speeches; and with Hiram Johnson coming back from Europe "preparing to fight in a spectacular way," as a paper in his State puts it, it is clear enough to the Baltimore Sun, "that we shall not have a dull political summer. An exciting, if not enjoyable, time will probably be had by all."

Somewhat surprised, the sire asked, 'Why, what do you mean, son, 'do tricks'?' And in all innocence the little lad responded, 'Well, mama says that when you were young you used to drink like a fish.' Kimmner was taken into custody following a transaction in which it was claimed that he paid a deputy collector a portion of the tax due the government, and then presented the official with jewelry valued at $65 as a bribe for him to refrain from going through the books to ascertain the exact amount of taxes due.

The deputy collector whom it is alleged Kimmner bribed was said to be acting on instructions with the view of securing evidence.

RAILROAD FREIGHT MOVEMENT GROWING

Washington, March 30.—During the last quarter of 1922, railroads carried 27 per cent more freight than they did during the same period of 1921, the interstate commerce commission reported today, basing its summary on reports from all class I roads, which control more than 90 per cent of the country's rail mileage. The total number of tons of freight originating on the lines during the three months ending last December 31, the commission found was 313,033, 663, against 246,488,089 tons during the corresponding period of 1921.

BROTHER OF SLAIN MODEL IS QUIZZED

Francis Keenan Admits He Phoned Draper Daugherty About Job Promised Him.

New York, March 30.—Renewing his examination of the relatives of Dorothy Keenan, slain model, late today, Assistant District Attorney Pecora announced that Francis Keenan, her brother, had admitted he was the man who telephoned Draper M. Daugherty, son of Attorney General Daugherty, after the girl's death and asked him to make good a promise to get him a job in the United States department of justice.

Francis Keenan, who was the first witness called, was questioned for more than an hour and a half by Mr. Pecora and Police Captain Carey, of the homicide bureau. For the first time since the beginning of the investigation of the murder, an official stenographic record of the examination was taken.

Mr. Pecora announced he would continue his examination far into the night if necessary and that he would devote an hour at least to questioning each member of the Keenan family, all of whom were present in the criminal court building this evening.

Francis Keenan was accompanied by his mother, his brother, John; his sister, Mrs. Helen Whitson, and by the family attorney, Deacon Murphy, all of whom succeeded in entering the private offices of the district attorney without the knowledge of scores of reporters and photographers, who had been awaiting their arrival since morning.

Shortly after the examination began, Mr. Pecora announced he would re-examine J. Kearney Mitchell, of Philadelphia, the girl's wealthy admirer, and John H. Jackson, confidential counsel to Mitchell, tomorrow.

The detailed examination of the Keenans today and the announcement of the re-examination tomorrow of Mitchell and Jackson are taken as a possible indication that the district attorney is testing the theory, on which it has so far proceeded, that the girl was slain by a ring after she had refused to aid them in blackmailing her "uncle."

The blackmail theory was referred to by the announcement made today by Nelson Oleott, Mitchell's counsel, that the wealthy Philadelphia had never been worried about being blackmailed because of the letters he had written Dorothy Keenan.

Mr. Oleott made the statement after a conference with District Attorney Banton and after a police announcement to the effect that information of letters left by Miss Keenan in her safe deposit box, while indicating that she had many wealthy admirers, were not of a nature to afford a basis for blackmail.

BEAVERS APPEALS TO CITY ATTORNEY

changes. He quoted the section of the city code which stipulates that before certain men are eligible for promotion, they must be nominated by the chief of police, and asked the city attorney for a ruling on this question.

The chief's communication cited other alleged inconsistencies which he charged the committee with performing in spite of his action in informing members that they were "going about it in conflict with the law."

City Attorney Mayson declined to comment on the letter, but stated that he would give it careful consideration and probably be in position to render his opinion sometime Saturday. The text of the chief's letter follows:

"Hon. James L. Mayson, City Attorney, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir: I respectfully ask your advice upon the following questions: The chief of the administration of the department of police, to wit:

"At a meeting of the police committee of the general council, held on the evening of March 29, after other business had been transacted, a member of the police committee (Mr. Beall) nominated Patrolman Barnett for the office of sergeant, which was then vacant. Thereupon, I arose and called the committee's attention to an ordinance, approved June 6, 1913, which reads as follows:

"The heads of the several departments of the city of Atlanta shall not only be the nominal but the actual executive heads of their respective departments, and hereafter when assistants or men in such departments are to be added, either as officers or workmen, the head of such departments shall recommend parties suitable therefor to his board or committee, and said board, committee or committee shall be, and they are hereby, empowered to accept or reject such nomination, and their decision shall be final; but if the nomination first presented are rejected, it shall be the further duty and privilege of the head of such department to continue to make such nominations until such names are presented as said board or committee may accept."

"I stated to the committee that, in my opinion, I had a discretion to nominate any man on the eligible list in the department. Thereupon, the chairman and each member of the committee stated publicly that they intended to elect Barnett on the list except Mr. Barnett. I then stated that I could not nominate Mr. Barnett for the reason that, while I knew him to be a good patrolman, I did not believe he was qualified as an executive officer and was not specially fitted as a commanding officer of police."

"The chairman of the police com-

Nominations Ignored. "Thereafter I specifically nominated over twenty men, all of whom I believed to be capable and efficient, and as I called each name they voted to refuse to elect them."

"I asked the committee to defer the election until the next meeting, so that I might look up the qualifications of additional men for the purpose of insuring a man of high type to be elected as an officer. Thereupon, the chairman, with the concurrence of the entire committee, instructed me to begin at the top and read the entire list of eligible patrolmen, and told me that if I refused to do so, they would consider it an act of insubordination on my part toward the committee."

"I then proceeded to read the entire list, but stated to the committee that I was not exercising my privilege of nomination, as I understood it under the law, but was obeying and complying with their instructions to read the list. From time to time I pointed out deficiencies in various men which in my opinion made it unwise to elect them as officers in the department. In a number of instances the committee recognized these objections and did not vote upon the men, but passed them up."

"After I had read about fifty men each of whom the committee voted to reject, I came to the name of 'Mr. Barnett, and I then stated to the committee that I would not nominate Mr. Barnett because, in my opinion, I had a discretion in selecting the men to be nominated; because I did not think he was fitted for the office, for several reasons which I stated; and because the law made me the responsible head of the police department and I believed it vested me with the power to select the men who were to be in the department. The committee thereupon instructed me specifically to place the name of Mr. Barnett in nomination, and I refused to do so."

Protest in Vain.

"A member of the committee then nominated Mr. Barnett to be sergeant of police and the committee then unanimously voted to elect him. I thereupon arose and stated that I had not nominated Mr. Barnett before he was elected, nor at the time, and that I protested the election on the ground that it was illegal. The chairman of the committee then stated to me that, in his opinion, my refusal to nominate Mr. Barnett was an act of insubordination on my part towards the committee."

"At a former meeting, held on the 8th day of February, Patrolman Sturdevant was nominated by a member of the police committee and elected a lieutenant. I was not requested by the committee to make any nomination, and I then and there called the attention of the committee to the law which provided that no person could be elected an officer in the police department except upon nomination by the chief."

"Disregarding my suggestion as to the law, the committee unanimously elected these three men to be officers in the department, with an increase in pay to the pay provided by law for their respective ranks."

"I am writing to ask you, as city attorney, to advise me in the premises upon the following questions of law, so that I may act entirely within the law:

"1. Do the laws and ordinances of the city of Atlanta and the rules for the department vest in me, as chief of police, a discretion in selecting persons for nomination as officers or men to be elected by the police committee in the police department?"

Asks Legal Rights. "2. Have I the legal right to refuse to nominate a person on the eligible list, against whom there are no specific charges, but whose personal fitness, qualifications, etc., in my discretion, lead me to believe that such a person should not be nominated or elected to be an officer or member of the force?"

"3. Has the police committee the legal power to dictate, direct, or otherwise coerce the nomination of a person they may select to be nominated?"

"4. Under the circumstances was Patrolman Barnett lawfully elected sergeant in the police department?"

"5. Under the circumstances, were Captain Sturdevant and Lieutenant Davis and Cheung lawfully elected to their respective offices in the police department?"

"Under the ordinances of the city and the rules of the department, for the disbursement of funds appropriated by the city of Atlanta for the payment of salaries and other obligations of the police department, checks are issued by the city, payment to me as chief of police, upon which I am compelled to put my endorsement and approval before they are paid. I have posted a bond for the faithful and lawful performance of my duties in the premises."

"6. Have I the authority, if the persons named have been illegally elected to be officers in the department, to sign checks or vouchers upon the treasury of the city of Atlanta, which contain money with which to make payment to such officers of their salaries, when they have been unlawfully elected? If I should make payment to these persons, would I or my bondsmen incur a liability thereupon?"

"7. If these men have been illegally elected, and if under the law I am not authorized to make such payments and might become liable to the illegal payment to them, what, in your opinion, should I do to protect the interest of the city and myself from making such illegal payments?"

"These matters are urgent and pressing. In my opinion these officers are serving illegally and the city is incurring a liability, and for these reasons I am compelled to ask you to furnish me with your official legal opinion on these several questions so that I may be prepared to conduct myself as the law provides I should in the premises."

"JAMES L. BEAVERS, Chief of Police of the City of Atlanta."

NEW SHORTLINE ROAD FOR WEST KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Ky., March 30.—A 20-mile railroad to be constructed in Muhlenberg and Butler counties, in western Kentucky, by the Greenville Eastern Railroad company, under a charter granted yesterday by E. F. Vaughn, secretary of state. Capitalization of the company was given at $1,000,000.

Directors of the new company to serve until a regular session of stockholders is held include J. W. Thompson, St. Louis; H. E. Barber, Marion, Ill.; and W. J. Lester, of Cleveland. Headquarters of the company are to be established at Greenville, Kentucky.

In the United States there are five acres of forest land to every person; in Norway there are seven and in Sweden there are nine.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY GIVES UP OWN LIFE TO SAVE BROTHER

Chicago, March 30.—Frank Tusack, 4 years old, gave his life today in a heroic attempt to save the life of his brother Joseph, 21 months old, whose clothing caught fire while the children were playing with matches. Unable to beat out the blaze, Frank carried his brother to a sink and turned on the water, according to firemen. In carrying his brother, Frank's clothing was ignited and he died a few hours later in a hospital. Joseph's burns were not serious.

Lacking Head Tax, He Entered U. S. On Bridge Girders

Adrian, Mich., March 30.—The Adrian post of the American Legion today appealed to Secretary of State Hughes to aid in effecting the release of Leo Castle, 18, a Canadian citizen who twice risked his life by crossing from Canada into the United States on the girders of the international bridge at Niagara Falls. Castle, who is held here for Canadian authorities, crossed on the bridge girders, he says, because he lacked the necessary $8 for a head tax to enter this country in the usual way.

On his first crossing he was apprehended and returned. The second time he reached Adrian where he was lodged in jail. Castle desired to become an American citizen, according to legionnaires, and the local post is asking the secretary of state to intercede in his behalf with Canadian authorities. The local post has offered to pay Castle's head tax if he is permitted to remain.

Shoe Workers' Union Planning to Merge

Lynn, Mass., March 30.—General Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Lynch, of the United Shoe Workers of America, and General Agent A. H. Gill, of the Shoe Workers' Protective union, today confirmed reports that preliminary steps were under way for the merging of the two bodies. Amalgamation of the two bodies would mean a union of about 30,000 workers.

German Strikers In Ruhr Ordered To Resume Work

French Commander Will Deport Rail Workers Who Refuse to Work.

Essen, March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—A proclamation by General DeGoutte, commander-in-chief of the occupational forces, ordering all the striking railroad officials and trainmen to resume work, under penalty of expulsion, was posted throughout the Ruhr and Rhineland today. The order affects 200,000 Germans, as the families of those refusing to return to their posts will accompany them into unoccupied Germany.

Approximately 125,000 men come directly under the order. All the Ruhr and Rhineland railway systems now are held by the French and Belgians, except the line in the Cologne zone, bridgehead, which is in the hands of the British. The Germans have continued to work on this system.

The task of expelling the strikers and their families will require several weeks. Special train arrangements will have to be made for conveying the families of the men to the frontier. It is said the German government has anticipated the expulsion order and arranged for distributing the men and their families throughout the country. The men will be given work by the government.

Under a decree by the Inter-allied Rhineland commission, the railway workers were notified a week ago by the French that those who refused to serve under the French and Belgians would be expelled from occupied territory the first week of April. It is said 1843 Germans have agreed to return to work.

The sum of 208,000,000,000 marks has been sent into occupied territory up to date by the Berlin government for the striking railway men and those who have been prominent in passive resistance although not on strike.

Relatives of Girl Charge Burnham With Fatal Shots

Contractor, Shot in Own Office, Dies in Hospital Friday Morning.

New York, March 30.—Relatives of Miss Helene Ziegler, found dead with a pistol in her hand yesterday in the Grand Central offices of Frederic I. Burnham, wealthy contractor who had been fatally shot, today denied Miss Ziegler had committed the double tragedy.

The allegation was made that Burnham had shot Miss Ziegler and himself and that his friends had placed the pistol in Miss Ziegler's hands to shield Burnham in case he should recover. Burnham died this morning.

The report of police investigators in "closing the case" this morning, was that Miss Ziegler, who had known Burnham for ten years and had been exceptionally friendly with him during the period, recently learned that he was married and, therefore, could not marry her, and that she visited his office with the intention of killing him and herself if he did not consent to get a divorce and marry her.

Mrs. Florence Marks, a married sister of the dead girl, made the statement for the family today in the presence of her mother.

WIFE CAN'T PROVE WHICH IS HUSBAND

Sam—he of the striped suit. "But I don't know as I want her now."

"Well, you needn't think," retorted Irene, "that you can wish yourself on me."

Baby Can't Solve It. "Let's let the baby decide," said Judge Morgan. "He ought to be able to pick out his daddy."

But the baby, given first to one man and then the other, squaled equally loudly in the arms of each.

The judge was stumped. In desperation, he asked Irene: "Did you have a bathtub in your house?"

"No, your honor, we didn't."

"Well, did you ever see him—this one—undressed?"

The man in the tan overcoat blushed as Irene replied in the affirmative. "Did he have any marks by which you could identify him?"

"No. Not even a little mole."

"This," said Judge Morgan, as he shook his head, "is a matter for the divorce courts."

"Discharged."

Irene fainted and was carried out.

JUDGE JONES' SISTER DIES IN BLAIRSVILLE

Blairsville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. T. D. Rogers, living near this place, died suddenly last night of heart trouble. She was sick only about thirty minutes. She was survived by her husband, T. D. Rogers, and a number of children. She was a sister of N. Y. Reid, of the place, and of Judge Harry M. Reid, judge of the city court of Atlanta.

THE WORLD ALLIANCE.

On this page today appears an editorial from the last issue of the Christian Index, the official organ of the Baptists of Georgia, under the title "Atlanta Wants the Next Baptist Alliance Session."

It is a strong argument why the next world alliance, which is a gathering of representative Baptists from every country on the globe,
should be held somewhere within the confines of the Southern Baptist convention, and more specifically in Atlanta, the center of southern activities, thought, life.

A private letter from Dr. L. D.
Newton, editor of the Christian Index, says:

"The suggestion has caught the quick response of the Atlanta Convention bureau, the chamber of commerce and other leading civil bodies and I feel confident that we are going to be able to bring the convention here. It will mean the coming of not less than 10,000 persons to Atlanta
from every center of the earth.
I am now working on certain influential leaders in Canada and England to throw their support to Atlanta which will guarantee our getting the congress, I think."

Of course Atlanta wants the alliance and will go out and get it,
if such a thing is possible.

It seems that the next convention of this great organization should be held somewhere in the United States. The initial session having been held in London, the second in Philadelphia, the third—this year's meeting—is to be in Stockholm; then, of course, the fourth should swing back to this country, and into the south by reason of Philadelphia having had the session at the only time it was held in America.

It is understood the south will be well represented at the Stockholm meeting. Then by all means let them mobilize their resources, and get not only the United States but the two Americas behind Atlanta for the next convention.

LORD CECIL'S VISIT.

Lord Robert Cecil, who is now a distinguished overseas guest of this country, is the unofficial but fully empowered spokesman of the league of nations.

In other words, he is an ambassador of internationalism. He is one of a powerful group of men in and out of this country who believe with all their soul that the principles of the league are not only morally right, with the firm and immutable peace of the world the goal, but that the relationships of all nations under such a bond of idealism will tend to the material betterment of each nation and of the civilized nations of the world as a unit.

The idea has vitalized him to give it its unselfish devotion, and while he has not come to America to exhort this country to join the league, or to advise this country as to its foreign policy or relations, he comes, much as Clemenceau came,
to deliver a personal message.

Whatever may be the individual views of those with whom he will and should come in contact he will be given a hearty welcome and a respectful hearing. America's sense of fair play never has been and never will be swung, pendulum like,
by the voice of politicians, or the policy of administration.

Since the treaty of Versailles was defeated in the senate on the eve of the 1920 pre-convention national campaigns public thought has traveled a long way.

The exigencies of politics having given way to clearer and more independent thinking on the part of the people, there is no mistaking
the fact that popular will today approves a participation and a hearty spirit of co-operation in world affairs. The economic conditions of this country demand it.

President Harding himself has received the issue by urging the acceptance of the world court. Lord Cecil's visit will accentuate interest on that subject, and should serve to place the discussion on a higher plane than the catcalls of political football players.

It is not probable that the league of nations per se will be an issue in the 1924 presidential campaign, but world markets for American products, supremacy of American ships on the seas, international trading, all of which can be produced only by international amity, will be issues.

Lord Robert Cecil does not come to this country as a Britisher. He comes as a citizen of the world.
The fact is, the success of constructive international co-operation depends upon the ability of people to think, to speak and to listen without undue reference to nationality.

News to many is contained in this headline from the Houston Post—"You've simply got to work!"

Any old excuse will do. An exchange tells of a fight between two half-bred men over the merits of a certain hair tonic. As it developed, they hadn't been drinking it.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

"Spring Is Late"

I. Keep the overcoat convenient—Place no screen before the grate.

Though the breeze is blowing blots, Pipes a song-bird—"Spring is late!"

She is loitering in the valleys, Like a bird with- out a mate:

Keep your coat and coat convenient—"Spring is late! Spring is late!"

II. Though the mint suggests the julep, Not a drop of it's around;

As in wet days of the past time When the colonels held their ground;

Though the cracked ice in the goblet Hints of Summer, thronged in state,

Has no mint; suspect the music—"Spring is late! Spring is late!"

The "Fine Old Maid."

(E. W. Howe, in Howe's Monthly.)

If I should be in love with a woman, and be thrown over for a rival, I should hate her; I can not imagine myself becoming her devoted friend, saying she was too good for me, and finally, after her first husband's death, marrying her. There are too many fine old maids in the world for me to think of doing a thing like that.

Songs of the Old Home Soil.

In "The Philosophy of an Arkansas Farmer, and Other Poems," by M. E. Dunaway, of Little Rock, there is this little love song, entitled "Enchantment":

"My dear, I must kiss thy rose-red lips, For they were meant for mine; I would rather have this than a thousand sips Of the rarest, richest wine.

"When I look into your beaming eyes I feel the enchantment's spell; You could lead me to heights of Paradise, Or drive me down to hell."

There are some fine love lyrics in the two volumes, and The Arkansas Farmer's Philosophy takes one back to the soil and familiar scenes of southtime on the farm.

A Warning.

III: "Beware! Beware! Better learn ye lessons right, For de-time witches Is a-dyin' through de night! Deys ridin' on de brown steeds, Deys wrikled an' deys old; Better hush ye mummy's fire-place When de win' blows cold!"

The Richland Philosopher.

A man never gets too old to com- mend the good or condemn the bad. This has been our policy for the past 40 years as a correspondent for The Herald-Journal. We never fail with any man on his religious or political opinions. We find good, bad and indifferent in all denominations.

Suggests by the Wayside.

Carey J. Williams says in his Greensboro Herald-Journal column:

"When it comes to Broadcasting gossip there's always some person in every community. That excels any Radio station in this Particular respect."

Treasury department reports na- tion wide prosperity. The nation ex- tends to the edge of the world will be a Boston man is on a hunger strike. We presume his wife pur- chased a cook book.

Already the convention bureau of Atlanta has enthusiastically endorsed the resolution and the chamber of commerce and the other civic bodies of the city are joining in the effort to bring to the south the next session of this great body.

It was most encouraging to the members of the council to have present at the banquet last Saturday evening Dr. Mullins, of the Atlanta Broughton. Each of these brethren expressed his cordial support of the movement and his belief that Atlanta would be the host for the fourth session of the alliance.

It will be remembered that the initial session of the alliance was held in London. The second session was held in Philadelphia, and this is the third session which will this summer be held at Stockholm. It is likely that Canada will wish to have the next session, naming Toronto or some such place as the site of the convention.

It is not surprising that the alliance meets within our own borders. Atlanta offers the best opportunity for such a meeting. The commonwealth of Georgia has within its borders more Baptists than any other political division of the world. Atlanta is strategically located for the entire continent.

Furthermore, Atlanta is simply provided with auditorium space to care for the large number of people who would attend such a meeting. The auditorium will comfortably seat 7,500 persons.

Taft, under the same roof, but entirely separate from the main auditorium, seats 1,500 persons for a mass meeting and 750 for banquets and purposes. There are 3,000 downtown hotel rooms in Atlanta at this time, which will be within the next year, there will be 600 more hotel rooms available. There are three other major hotel projects now under way, all of which will be built and in use before the next session of the alliance.

Atlanta may be reached by more than fifty incoming passenger trains every day with through sleepers to every center in the United States and Canada. Atlanta is 25 hours from New York city and 30 hours from the Pacific coast. Atlanta is 10 hours from the Atlantic coast. When the Shrine convention set in Atlanta in 1914 there were 20,000 visitors comfortably cared for. Plans are all completed to care for 30,000 visitors this spring when the Elks hold their convention here.

The foregoing is conclusive evidence that Atlanta can care for the Baptist world alliance.

We earnestly hope that our American Baptist brethren will join with Atlanta in a united effort to bring the fourth session of the alliance to the south and to Atlanta.

Baptists and Atlanta Baptists will spend themselves without abandon to make this effort of largest possible service to our American Baptist life.

Churches Call Doubters

EASTER'S ANSWER TO UNBELIEF

(The following is issued by the committee on church co-operation.)

"Their words seemed to them as idle tales."

This is the way in which, Luke says, the apostles regarded what Mary Magdalene, Joanna and Mary, the sister of Jesus, told them that first Easter morning, nineteen centuries ago, when they came from the empty tomb to tell Peter, James, John and the other disciples, that Christ had risen.

Stunned by the crucifixion, these men, who had so lately disputed as to which should sit on the highest throne in the kingdom, which they believed Jesus was about to establish, could not believe that Christ had risen. It seemed impossible. But they went to see for themselves.

What happened is the best proven fact in history.

What they saw and heard transformed eleven men, for the most part fishermen and men of the humblest walks of life, with little education, from a group of broken spirits following a crucified carpenter, into a body of men, who without fear gladly faced death itself in order to proclaim Christ, as the risen Lord and Savior of the world.

Christ Risen Works.

Within forty days, Peter, who the night of the betrayal had denied with oaths and curses, that he even knew Jesus, was now saying:

"This Jesus hath God raised up whereof we all are witnesses."

When Ananias and Sapphira, in whose courtyard Peter, denying his Lord, had so lately trembled, questioned Peter about the healing of a lame man, he answered:

"Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole."

When Ananias, Sapphira, and others of the Sanhedrin threatened them if they continued telling of Christ, Peter and John answered:

"Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard."

Saul of Tarsus tried to combat them. Certainly the most brilliant Jew of his day, this man loathed and despised the very ideas voiced by Peter, John and their companions. With fiery zeal, he undertook to crush the growing church by persecution. Men and women were imprisoned as the result of his efforts. Some were killed. Then, the risen Christ came to Saul of Tarsus.

By that coming, Saul was transformed into Paul the Apostle, who would later write:

"Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief." Something had entered the man which changed the whole current of the life of Saul of Tarsus, driving him as Paul the Apostle up and down the then known world preaching Christ, the risen Lord. Nothing could silence him. In prison, during his long years of imprisonment, he persisted, until at last he, too, was beheaded in Rome, where Peter was himself crucified.

Peter and Paul.

What led these two men, as utterly different as human beings can be, to persist to the very death in proclaiming as true, what one had considered at first, "idle tales," and what the other believed to be a preposterous and hateful lie. The rude and uncouth fisherman, Simon Peter, and the polished and cultured Pharisee, Saul of Tarsus, as far apart as the poles, could have been united only by their belief that they had seen the risen Christ, which belief their lives prove to have been true.

Men do not face death daily, joyfully, and ultimately give up life itself for a lie.

Both Peter and Paul believed that Christ, as a living personality, was pouring power, hour by hour, into their lives. And because they believed and ventured their lives on their belief, these men, who otherwise would probably have never been heard of, certainly Peter would never have been known, these two men, whose companions, changed the whole course of history.

And today 500,000,000 people, as a result of their work, are Christian. In name, at least, they follow the risen Christ. Such a miracle could never have been wrought by a "cunningly devised fable."

Tomorrow, Easter Sunday, will be only one more link in the evidence, which proves that Jesus lives. Tomorrow, is just one more of the 32 Sundays a year, which year by year in an unbroken chain of 19 centuries reaches back to the door of the empty tomb. The first day of the week is our Christian Sabbath, because on the first day of the week, the risen Christ appeared first to His followers. Every first day of the week, every Sabbath, proclaims that fact anew.

Tomorrow in Atlanta's churches the resurrection of our Lord will be celebrated again.

Naturally, Christians will be present. But tomorrow Christians are hoping that more than Christians will come to our churches. Especially to the churches invite those who doubt and disbelieve the wonderful story of the risen Lord.

Tomorrow, in 100 of Atlanta's churches, services will begin and continue every night during the coming weeks in the effort to bring home to men, women and children the truths which Jesus began to teach when, as the carpenter of Nazareth, He traveled through Galilee and Judea.

A middle-aged man seldom shines in society unless he is bald.—Baltimore Sun truths which He taught by His resurrection—truths which, as the risen Lord, Christ Jesus is teaching through His churches today.

If you doubt or disbelieve these truths, all the more reason why you should attend these services. Come, see and hear for yourselves.

Nineteen centuries ago the risen Christ said to a little group of men, facing a task which, humanly speaking, was impossible:

"Ye shall receive power."

Not only that little group of men, but numberless millions in the intervening centuries, have ventured forth upon that promise. And never has the promise failed to be fulfilled.

Lives have been saved from worse than death, homes have been restored and families reunited and held together, where men and women have believed and followed. Communities have been transformed, and nations have been saved from utter ruin by men who have believed the promise of power from the risen Christ.

Why not try this in your life? The churches of Atlanta are calling Christian and non-Christian; the first draw closer to our risen Lord; the other to know our living Saviour; and both to unite with Him in going forth to serve all mankind.

COLONEL I. C. WADE DIES IN CORNELIA

Body of Prominent North Georgia Citizen Will Be Shipped to Atlanta for Burial Sunday.

Cornelia, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) Colonel I. C. Wade, 75 years old, one of the most prominent citizens of this section of Georgia, died at his home here today after an illness of two months. He had been a resident of Cornelia about 20 years, having come here from his old home in Atlanta.

Colonel Wade held many responsible positions during his life. At one time he was industrial agent for the Southern railroad. He also served as president of the Georgia Horticultural society. During the war between the states he was an officer in the federal army.

Funeral services will be held here Saturday and the body shipped to Atlanta for interment Sunday in West View cemetery. Colonel Wade is survived by his widow, one son, Philip S. Wade, of Cornelia; three daughters, Mrs. Ralph Davidson, of Montreal, Canada; Mrs. Charles D. Atkinson, of Atlanta; and Mrs. Virginia Wade, of Cornelia.

Methodist University Has Only One-Third Methodist Students

Chicago, March 30.—While Northwestern university is a Methodist Episcopal educational institution, a religious census just completed shows that only about one-third of the students are of the Methodist faith, according to figures made public today.

There are 1,200 Methodist students, according to returns from 78 per cent of the total enrollment. Roman Catholics come second with 600, while those of Presbyterian faith number 631 and of Jewish, 331. Lutherans are fifth with 447. There were 633 students who said they had no religious preference.

ARREST INTERRUPTS EFFORT AT SUICIDE

Chicago, March 30.—Abraham Mogle wanted to die, but he wanted to be all dressed up for the occasion. Donning his full dress suit, putting an extra curl in his small mustache and a wave in his hair, he lay down on his bed at the Atlantic hotel Friday.

Then he reached for a bottle of veronal and drank heartily.

But police wanted to ask Mogle about a trifling something like $750 which they say he obtained in a fraudulent manner—and brought him back to the land of living in time, "Go away and let me die," Mogle begged.

"If you die, you'll die in jail," said an un sympathetic cop.

Later reports said Mogle was in jail and very much alive, but still wearing the dress suit.

They were at that time.

When it came to a paragraph relating to talk of harmony between capital and labor being an idiotic doctrine the witness expressed his present views.

"There is no permanent harmony possible between capital and labor," he said.

"Did you ever try to bring about that harmony?"

"I never try impossibilities. There will never be harmony until the workers own the capital and the capitalist go to work and do useful labor."

FIVE EXECUTED AT VLADIVOSTOK

Vladivostok, February 27.—Chrysanth Borch and four other members of the Borchoff expedition to Kamchatka, condemned to death by the revolutionary tribunal for barbarities committed on Red prisoners were executed recently. Borchoff faced his executioners calmly, but the other four begged vainly for mercy.

Borchoff himself and other members of his party still are at large on the Kamchatka peninsula, it is reported they are attempting to walk across the Bering Sea ice and then, with the aid of boats reach Alaska.

TESTIMONY ENDED AT FOSTER TRIAL

Arguments at Criminal Syndicalism Trial Will Be Begun Tuesday, After Easter Recess.

St. Joseph, Mich., March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Both sides in the trial of William Z. Foster, under the Michigan criminal syndicalism law, rested their case this afternoon and court was adjourned until Tuesday, when arguments will begin.

The prosecutors felt satisfied as to the outcome when they obtained the admission from Foster on the witness stand today that he wished to see the government of the United States supplanted by a workers' dictatorship in accordance with the communistic theory which he is advocating.

The transaction, he said, probably would result in a soviet form of government similar to that at present in Russia, although he would not regard this as necessary or altogether advisable.

As to the actual methods which Foster would advocate, a sharp duel took place between the witness and O. L. Smith, assistant attorney-general, which ended in the following manner:

"You say you believe in political action as a method of bringing about the social revolution in this country?"

"I do."

"How did the communists get control in Russia?"

"By political action."

"You mean that civil war and revolution and the bolshevik uprising was political action?"

"In one way."

"Is that what you mean when you speak of the communist way to take over the government?"

"It is not."

"Can you point to a single thing in Russia that was not done by force?"

"Russia is not the whole world."

"Well, you folks point to it as though it were. I understand you want the soviet form of government in the United States."

"The rule of the workers, yes."

"Would you bring that about by armed insurrection and civil war if you could not bring it about by the ballot?"

"I could not say."

"You could not say. We will leave it right there."

Beyond Control.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Foster, took up the issue, and led the witness back to the safer ground expounded by Charles A. Ruthenberg, another witness.

"You were asked if you would bring about a change of government by force and violence. Do you believe any person could bring it about so—under the Marxian philosophy?"

"No one man could. The forces that bring about revolution are entirely beyond personal control. The revolution will come from the working out of contradictions in the capitalistic system, if it comes at all."

First at the close of the case Judge Charles E. White, stated that the witness, son of the attorney-general, in the financial realm with the Morgans.

There was Alfred E. Guimaraes, said to have been a broker, and Draper Daugherty, son of the attorney-general of the United States.

Victims of Lash Used by Mobs Fear to Testify

Next to Impossible to Get Evidence Against Birmingham Lawless.

Birmingham, Ala., March 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Flogging mobs have implanted such fear in the hearts of their victims in this community that it is next to impossible to induce them to appear in the courts, the Jefferson county grand jury said today in a presentation to Judge H. P. Healin, tenth judicial circuit.

"Of the numerous instances of kidnapping and flogging, that have taken place in this county," read the report, "we have had only two presented to us which shows clearly that those guilty of that dastardly practice have been successful in instilling into their victims a fear which prevents their lending any assistance to the authorities in ferreting out and bringing to justice the ones who are responsible for these crimes."

The grand jury called upon victims of flogging mobs to come forward and give testimony, "to come forward with what information they have at their command with regard to these floggings, assured of the hearty co-operation and protection of our courts and officers in helping to bring these criminals to justice."

One of the cases mentioned as having been investigated by the grand jury was that of a man named...

Model's Admirers Many

New York, March 30.—With all the force of a powerful magnet Dorothy Keenan drew admirers to her from all walks of life—but chiefly from the financially or socially prominent.

The chloroformed Broadway butterfly had long since given up her original ambition to become famous as "Dottie, the Coak Model," for the more lucrative and fascinating life as the darling of the wealthy, if not wise, "old papas."

Like a spider in its web, Dorothy Keenan drew to her men who decked her fair form in priceless furs, enabled her to maintain a luxurious love nest and showered their gold upon her.

Only shortly before her untimely death she had expressed a pity for the "unfortunate" girls who were compelled to work for a living.

There was John Kearsley Mitchell, son-in-law of the Stotesburys, linked in the financial realm with the Morgans.

There was Alfred E. Guimaraes, said to have been a broker, and Draper Daugherty, son of the attorney-general of the United States.

And there were others. Mitchell has admitted bestowing much cash and many valuable gifts upon the fair Dorothy. Other men did the same.

Guimaraes has denied that he played the opposite role and benefited from the property of the dead model.

Daugherty was very volubly explaining how his name came to be linked with that of the slain girl.

He declared that she was merely an acquaintance, an impersonal friend, but he admits that Dorothy had profited financially from her acquaintance with him.

Authorities are working on the theory that Mrs. Keenan was slain when she refused to take part in a plot to victimize Mitchell by blackmail processes for, according to detectives, Mitchell was somewhat of a fervent letter writer.

And on one occasion he is said to have expressed a consuming desire to "kiss your pretty pink toes" in a letter to Mrs. Keenan.

This letter is said to have disappeared when the apartment was ransacked by the party or parties who drugged the beauty.

Daugherty also charges that an attempt to blackmail him was made recently on the basis of his relations with the dead butterfly.

It is also charged that the whipping of Dr. J. D. Dowling, city and county health officer, and attacks of the United States public health service, according to state's attorneys, Dr. Dowling and numerous witnesses said to have knowledge bearing on that case were before the grand jury on several occasions. It was stated by authorities, N. Y. indictments so far have been returned.

The Dowling flogging on May 17, 1922, created a wide-spread comment and a searching inquiry has been under way since that date, participated in by city, state and federal authorities. It was the climax to a series of whippings by masked and unmasked mobs that had extended over a period of two years. Dr. Dowling was called to his door late at night and escorted to a false emergency call to attend a man with a broken leg. His seductors carried him to a wood and beat him almost to death. The tormentors told him, according to his statement, that his car-like methods in handling city health affairs had to stop. Dr. Dowling, with great effort, made his way to a farm house and was carried back to his home just before dawn. He immediately reported the case.

Since that event the whippings have been sporadic in nature. Persons of almost every walk in life have been victims of the flogging mobs.

Sentenced to Die.

Chicago, March 30.—Bernard Grant was found guilty of the murder of Ralph Souders, a policeman, during a tea store hold-up last December, and given the death penalty by a jury after a deliberating only a short time.

Walter Krauser, Grant's youthful companion in the holdup, had pleaded guilty but has not been sentenced.

PYTHIAN ACTIVITY PLEASES SUTLIVE

Grand Chancellor Returns From Visit to Lodges Throughout Georgia.

Savannah, Ga., March 30.—W. G. Sutlive, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, has returned to Savannah, after visiting several points in the state where there are lodges of the Knights of Pythias. He reports very marked activity in Pythian circles in Georgia. He found the Knights in Atlanta most active and doing work at practically every convention held there. In Augusta, he found one lodge in a very flourishing condition and the others getting along satisfactorily.

"In both of these cities," said Mr. Sutlive today, "reports were brought to me from lodges within the districts that Augusta and Atlanta represent, of a growing interest in the affairs of the Knights. The smaller towns and cities in which there are only one lodge of the order are sending in very helpful reports and giving evidence of much active work in the smaller places as well as in the larger ones."

"I was particularly interested on the occasion of my visit to Macon to find the deep interest the Knights are showing in the approaching centennial of the grand lodge of Georgia in May. The grand lodge will convene in Macon on the third Wednesday in May and will be in session ten days. I am assured the Macon Knights are preparing a grand reception for us and they should do so, because a former Macon man, Harry Robert, now of Columbus, is scheduled to be the next grand dismission of the order in Georgia. Thomas J. Carline, the only past supreme, has been elected chairman of the committee making the arrangements for the assembling of the grand lodge in Macon. This means that the committee is doing good work, for Mr. Carline knows no other kind."

"I was very pleased with the determination of the Knights in Macon, not to go before the general public and ask for funds with which to entertain the visiting brethren on this occasion. The Knights of Pythias are not in the habit of asking for money from the public, but are depending on their own resources for the support of their organization."

During the past week, John G. Cox, of Savannah, and a supreme representative, attended the second district convention of the Knights in Albany. This district was held on Tuesday and Mr. Cox reports a very interesting and enthusiastic session. The subordinate lodge in the second district will make a very excellent showing at the grand lodge meeting in May and there was an air of pronounced optimism throughout the entire convention.

Two other district conventions are scheduled for the immediate future. The eleventh district will meet at Nicholas, Georgia, on April 2. Brother E. A. Moske, of Nicholas, is president of this association and he and his associates have prepared a fine program for this occasion. The first district convention will meet at Waynesboro on April 10. Bros. H. J. Jones and W. A. H. Henshaw, Jr., are president and secretary. A very delightful program has been prepared and Waynesboro will be most hospitable to the reception of the visitors from this district. A large number of Pythians will attend from Savannah and Augusta. While Augusta is not in this district, it will probably send a D. O. K. K. team to Waynesboro for the purpose of initiating a class of candidates on the night of the convention. As these are the last conventions to be held previous to the session of the grand lodge, there will be a general review of the work for the year in both of them and this will aid to the interest of the members.

Walker Will Speak. Brunswick is looking forward with a great deal of interest to visit on April 30 from Honorable Clifford Walker, governor of Georgia, a past grand master of the Knights of Pythias. Mr. Walker is to deliver an address before a joint meeting of delegates and brethren in Brunswick. He is a very able speaker and is certain to have something of value to say to the Pythians on this occasion. There has recently been a revival of interest in the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias in Georgia. Savannah has re-organized the famous Georgia company, No. 1, at one time the champion of the United States and is actively at work. A. S. Cohen is captain of this company. Cohen is giving some thought to the re-organization of the military branch and Atlanta has never disbanded its company. J. P. Terrell, captain, reports renewed interest in the uniform rank since the visit of Major General W. H. Lums, the commander of the uniform rank in the supreme domain.

Train Noises Mask Waycross Thiefs; Windows Smashed

Waycross, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Two additional robberies were added to the long series which have been committed on Plant avenue during the past year. Last night the plate glass window of Harry Scher's establishment on lower Plant avenue was smashed and a number of articles of merchandise were stolen. Officers state that a padded brick was used. A similar case was reported from the Liberty Clothing company at the extreme lower end of the Hollow, where a number of caps and hats were stolen from the window after it had been smashed with a heavy object. The police have recovered what is believed to be the greater part of the stolen goods in the latter case.

Police officers state that practically all of the robberies committed in this section of the city during the past month occurred while trains were passing near the stores robbed. An officer had passed Scher's establishment only a few minutes before the robbery was committed, and while he was completing his beat a train passed. When he returned a short time afterward he found the window broken and the store pilloaged.

WAGES ARE RAISED IN NUMEROUS MILLS

New York, March 30.—Directors of the R. B. & R. Knight Mills, operating nineteen plants in Rhode Island today declared a 12 1/2 per cent wage increase, affecting 15,000 employees.

Passaic, N. J., March 30.—Five woolen manufacturing firms, members of the Passaic industrial council, posted notices in their mills today of a wage increase effective April 30.

The amount of the increase was not made known but it was understood it would compare favorably with the recent increase of 12 1/2 per cent granted by the New England woolen manufacturers. Approximately 12,000 operatives will be affected.

GRADUATE NURSES GIVEN DIPLOMAS AT SANDERSVILLE

Sandersville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Graduation exercises were held at the Rawlings sanitarium here this evening. Miss Jane Van Devre, R. N., of Atlanta, Ga., president of the state board of examiners of nurses and director of the southern division of the American Red Cross, was the principal speaker of the evening. Other prominent speakers participated on the program.

Nine young ladies, who have completed their training, received diplomas from this school. It is said that Rawlings sanitarium is the largest private hospital in the state and there is always a waiting list of girls who desire to enter training. Since this institution was established twenty years ago scores of young ladies have received their diplomas and are doing professional nursing in practically every southern state.

An elaborate program was rendered at the annual event tonight. Music was furnished by a special orchestra.

Vocal and instrumental music also was featured. The exercises were held in the spacious dining room on the first floor of the sanitarium.

Miss Brockert was elected president of the class; Miss Burner, vice president; Miss Moorhead, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Burner was declared the most beautiful girl of the class and Miss Brockert the most original.

Prominent visitors from many sections of the state were here to attend the exercises.

BALLARD ADDRESSES RURAL SCHOOL RALLY

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—N. B. Ballard, state school superintendent-elect, is the principal speaker at a rural school rally being held here today at Lynwood high school, two miles north of this city.

This is the first visit of Mr. Ballard to this county since his election and he was greeted by the largest gathering of rural school patrons ever assembled in the county.

He spoke on the needs of the rural schools of the state and outlined some of his plans which he hopes to institute to improve school conditions in Georgia. Hon. E. A. Pound, state high school supervisor, also spoke. A basket dinner was served on the school grounds and athletic events in the afternoon were entertainment features.

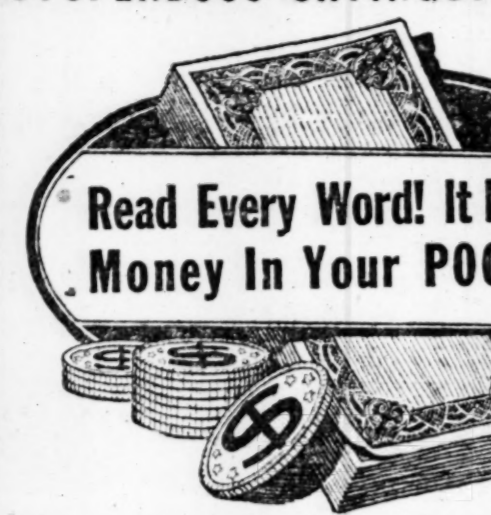

J. E. Turner, vice president of the Exchange National, was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers.

FITZGERALD LAWYERS WILL DEFEND WILSON

Fitzgerald, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Attorneys A. J. and J. C. McDonald, of this city, have been engaged to assist in the defense of J. C. Wilson, of Wilcox county, to be tried at the Ben Hill county superior court on April 16 for the murder of R. E. Sappington at Seville on August 23, 1920. This will be the fourth trial in this case, a change of venue having been granted the defendant from Wilcox county.

Besides the local attorneys, W. A. McClellan, of Macon, and Hal Lawson, of Abbeville, are looking after the interest of the defendant. Judge D. A. R. Crum will preside at the trial and the state will be represented by Solicitor General J. B. Wall and his assistant, Jesse Grantham, of this city.

Guests Honored At Standard Club.

An interesting event on Friday's social calendar was the bridge-ten at which Miss Beatrice Holman, Miss Yetta Guthman and Miss Dorothy Simon entertained at the Standard club complimentary to Miss Esther Sherby, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Lillian Gineburg, of Alexandria, La., the guests of Miss Julia Greenfield, and to Miss Helen Hooker, of Newark, N. J., and Miss Pat Kathan, of Monroe, La., who are visiting Miss Carolyn Gershon. Quantities of roses, narcissi and sweet peas decorated the club rooms. The prizes were attractive French novelties. The guests numbered 30 friends.

The "Ten Club" Will Meet.

The Ten club will be the guest of Mel B. Wilkinson, at his home, 1032 Peachtree road, Friday, April 6, at 4:30 o'clock. The paper for the evening will be given by S. D. Jones on "The Philosophy of Browning."

Missionary Tea At Memorial Church.

A missionary tea will be held at the Mary Branan Memorial church, Monday, April 2, at 2:30 o'clock. A program has been arranged. All ladies of the church are urged to attend.

"Grumpy" Will Be Matinee Feature For Boys and Girls

"Grumpy" will be run in Atlanta for the first time on Saturday morning at the Howard theater as the feature film for the boys and girls' matinee. This big Paramount picture, starring the great character actor, Theodore Roberts, will be the main attraction at the Howard all of Easter week and the little patrons of the Saturday morning matinee are being greatly favored by the management of the Howard in being the first people in Atlanta to enjoy it. The picture is guaranteed to charm the children as well as grownups and indications are that a packed house will greet the showing.

A Pathe cartoon comedy bearing the delightfully intriguing title, "The Country Mouse and the City Cat" will complete the bill, following the brief instructional reel. A further attraction at this Easter matinee will be the gift of candy Easter eggs to every child, and each egg will be "freshly laid." At the Alpha the Easter matinee offering will be a thrilling William S. Hart film, showing that daring hero mopping up with the last of the stage coach bandits and the 11th episode of "Around the World in 18 Days." The hero of these adventures, William Desmond, will be seen in this episode in "The Path of Peril." Mrs. W. P. Lemmon will supervise the matinee on Saturday morning, assisted at the Howard by Mrs. Frank McCormack. The chaperones announced by Mrs. Lemmon will be Mrs. H. H. McClure and Mrs. C. N. Weems at the Howard, and Mrs. G. H. Guy and Mrs. R. C. Bostwick at the Alpha.

How To Raise Baby Chicks

Put Avicol in the Drinking Water. Most people lose half of every hatch, and seem to expect it. Chick cholera, or white diarrhoea, is the cause. An Avicol tablet in the drinking water will save your chicks from all such diseases. Within 48 hours the sick ones will be lively as crickets. Mrs. Wm. May, Reno, Ind., writes: "I was losing 10 or 15 chicks a day from diarrhoea before I received the Avicol. I haven't lost one since." It costs nothing to try Avicol. Use it for preventing or treating white diarrhoea and all bowel diseases of poultry. If not satisfied, your money promptly refunded. Sold by your local dealer, or send 50c for package by mail prepaid for $1 for large size holding 2 1/2 times as much. Retail price, 6c. 114 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Invitation Given To Committee To View Picture

Mrs. E. Harry Goodhart, chairman of review committee of the Atlanta better films committee; Mrs. B. M. Boykin and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson invite the members of the committee to review a picture at the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium on Tuesday evening, April 3, at 8 o'clock. This will be the first of the "Famous Fair," an important film recently produced by Niblo and to be shown in Atlanta publicly at an early date.

The need for diversion through moving pictures in Cornelia, Ga., and in Greenwood, S. C., was brought to the attention of the Atlanta better films committee during the past week and the assistance of Mrs. B. M. Boykin, the president of the committee, was sought in furthering the undertaking to satisfy this want. From Greenwood Mrs. Boykin received a copy of the bookings for April of the best local picture house, with the request from citizens of Greenwood that the Atlanta better films reviewing committee indicate the pictures regarded as acceptable and exceptional, that the Greenwood committee might be in better position to further attendance at worthwhile showings.

From Cornelia word came that a group of citizens had determined to back the opening of a reputable picture house and requested information as to proper films and regular receipt of the Better Films Bulletin, and the endorsement of Mrs. B. M. Boykin, the president of the committee, was sought in furthering the undertaking to satisfy this want. Miss J. E. Hayes Is Honored.

Montezuma, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. J. E. Hayes, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs, has recently been elected to membership in the Georgia Society of the Colonial Dames of America, the National Society Daughters of the American Colonists, and the Mayflower Society. The Mayflower Society has no chapter in Georgia and she was elected a member of this society by the Washington, D. C., chapter.

An interesting coincidence is that notification of her election to membership in all of these societies came to Mrs. Hayes within a period of two days.

Miss Cone Will Be Luncheon Hostess.

A lovely event of Monday will be the luncheon at which Miss Constance Cone, who has returned home from Goucher college for the Easter holidays, will entertain in honor of her two attractive guests, Miss Susan Moss, of Athens, and Miss Elise Durr, both Goucher students.

Covers will be laid for Misses Moss, Durr, Rebecca Ashcraft, and her two Easter visitors, Margaret Storall, Elizabeth Little, Evelyn Carpenter, Edith Coleman, Louisa Howard, Alene Harris, Ethel Junner and Margaret Eldet.

Lenten Sewing Circle Makes Garments for Sheltering Arms

Many church auxiliaries, individuals, and neighborhood groups have continued their services to the children of the Sheltering Arms throughout the Lenten season of 1923, making large quantities of neat and comfortable garments for the four nurseries belonging to this splendid organization. Thirty-five dozen of the little pink and blue aprons and rompers have found ready hands and willing hearts among the following committees, and are being daily returned in beautiful condition: The Girls' Friendly, St. Philip's auxiliary, Sacred Heart auxiliary, Cornelia Moore auxiliary (Mrs. Brooks Morgan), St. Luke's auxiliary, All Saints auxiliary, Eucharist Club of West End, Mrs. L. R. Rutherford Lipscomb, Mrs. Lillie Block, Miss Helen McCarty, Mrs. B. L. Bugg, Mrs. Renfro Rauschenberg, Mrs. J. A. McCarty and Mrs. J. H. Jeter, Decatur, Mrs. Cliff Hatcher, Mrs. Henry Troutman, Mrs. M. F. Carlin, Mrs. Francis Kamper, Mrs. Newton Craig, Mrs. A. W. SAMUEL VAUCLAIN TO MAKE ADDRESS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, who is making a tour of his company's branches in the south and middle west, will address the Kiwanis club of Atlanta on Tuesday, April 17, according to announcement Friday.

During the evening he will address a number of bankers and business men at a dinner at the Georgian Terrace. His topic will be "World Business."

In addition to accepting invitations to address civic clubs and groups of business leaders on his trip, Mr. Vauclain will hold a number of conferences with railroad officials and shipbuilders strongly advocating the ownership of railroads instead of federal control and the need of greater transportation facilities to handle the needs of industry.

Confessions of a Debutante BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:
I ran away from my fiancé, Jonathan Grey, rich and elderly, to the arms of Larry, a man who dances well. His wife.

Mrs. Larry, shows me the full of my course and becomes my friend. I return home. My engagement to the sheltering arms, a chance acquaintance, whose name I never learned, but who made love to me, Jonathan bursts out wedding because he fears a breach of promise suit from a girl whom he just substituted for me at my engagement party in the event that I am engaged during the ceremony and drops to the floor, paralyzed. Recovering, he demands, through a servant, that I come to the breakfast table. Later mother calls and informs me that my sister, Elsie, is missing. I go home with her.

INSTALLMENT NO. 66.
"Jonathan's Unreconciled."

"What is it?"
Without waiting for an answer mother had opened the door of the living room and there, on the couch, was father.

"A high fever—he shouldn't be disturbed. Overlooked by the physician say. And then the door closed behind him.

While my father was being put to bed I hurried to a drug store and had the prescriptions filled for my mother.

It seemed that everything was coming at once. But perhaps it was providential for this new trouble would lessen the effect of Elsie's disappearance.

I wondered as I drove home if father knew about Elsie. If she had gone to him instead of to mother with her tale of the youth and her fondness for him the result would have been different. Father, with his loveable indifference to caste and creed, would have welcomed the last thing because he was the last his daughter loved, if for no other reason.

At this dinner table this evening I mentioned father's illness to Jonathan.

Jonathan was deep in his soup. He looked up, casually.
"Old boy's sick, eh?" He might have been remarking about the weather.

In that instant I hated Jonathan as I had hated him during that first dinner at our home. I hated him so thoroughly that my body ached for physical expression of its tempest of feeling.

I wanted to strike him! To throw something at him! I was primitive. But Mercer of the slim white hands; Mercer of the rich colorful voice stood just back of my chair and so I went on eating and said nothing.

At the conclusion of dinner I went to my sitting room and closed the door.

I felt that the sight of Jonathan would drive me to doing some desperate thing. My affection for my father was probably the one thoroughly honest and thoroughly generous affection of my life. Jonathan's unconcern for his illness had cut me to the quick. It was unfeeling.

I tried to read and, failing that, sat and stared at my trunks. They Reception Honors Pastor's Wife.

Seneca, Ga., March 30.—One of the most beautiful affairs of the season was the reception tendered by the ladies of the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon, March 28, at the suburban home of Mrs. H. G. Hutchinson, complimenting Mrs. Strout, wife of Rev. Sanford R. Strout, retiring pastor of the Methodist church here, who leaves shortly to assume the pastorate of Calvary Methodist church, Atlanta.

The lovely home was decorated for the occasion with bright spring flowers. Yellow prevailed in the dining room, where Jacquille, tulip and trailing jessamines made a beautiful setting for the delicious salad course, served by Mesdames L. P. Brandebury, Harry L. Alexander and Robert W. Freeman. Receiving with the hostess and honor guest were Mesdames A. P. Carmichael and Hugh B. Sasser, and Misses Sara Sims and Mary Fox, members of the Methodist choir, of which Mrs. Strout was soloist and director.

Mrs. Hutchinson wore a gown of midnight blue flat crepe. Mrs. Strout was becomingly gowned in cream crepe Romaine, with large black lace hat.

Something New in the Corset World W. B. FORMU-BAND

Not a corset nor a substitute for one, but a garment for wear when entire freedom of motion is desirable.

While the Formu-Band is especially adapted to the sports — golfing, tennis, horseback, motoring — and for comfortable lounging, some women find it to be a most suitable garment for general wear.

Though it is primarily designed for luxurious comfort, it is snug-fitting and has just enough boning to prevent spreading of the figure. You are cordially invited to visit our corset parlors, where an expert corsetiere from the factory in New York will demonstrate for you the merits of this delightful new garment.

THE VITAL FLAME

BY MAY CHRISTIE

A Stirring Serial of Primitive Passions

CHAPTER XXVII.

Unexplained.

Miles was smoking a cigar, and now he flipped the ash off the end of it with an air of nonchalance. Marcella could not see how his hand trembled.

"I, also," she rejoined, striving for lightness, though her heart was nearly breaking. "Ships that passed in the night, you know?"

He gave a short laugh.

"Most women look on boardship friendships in that light."

"Men, too," she parried.

He laughed again. He wouldn't give her the satisfaction of knowing how he felt about her conduct.

"I dare say." Then he added, with a brusque indifference: "By the way, I owe you an apology for breaking our inner engagement so suddenly. Did you get my telegram?"

"Oh, yes." She could match his cynicism with her own. "As a matter of fact, I didn't think you'd remember it. It wasn't quite a definite engagement, was it?"

She could see the contempt in his eyes as he replied:

"I'm afraid I took it—er—seriously. You see, I did not know about your 'permanent engagement.' Mr. Treman is to be—er—congratulated."

She tried to speak, to tell him that the whole thing was a cruel nightmare. But not a single word would come. Her dry tongue clung to the roof of her mouth.

Miles made a move as though to leave her. She must say something—anything—now! This chance would never come again!

"I ought to have told you—on the boat—"

"Ah! don't apologize." She could see his flashing smile, and could not know the sensitiveness behind it. "I don't flatter myself that I had any claim to your confidence. I assure you, you need have no regrets at all."

This breezy acquiescence in the situation was "the most unkindest cut of all."

Unsteadily, she put a hand out towards him.

"Miles! I—I—oh, you hurt me so! I did believe in you—that last night—our promises—"

He made no move to touch her hand.

"You are engaged. Don't you think that fact is sufficient comment on our boardship—friendship?"

"Only—only—er—yesterday," stammered the girl. "It was just a—er—sort of understanding—"

"You wear his ring. You have given him your promise. In view of everything that's happened lately, I'm not convinced enough to think I ever counted," said Miles Holden coolly, stepping back from her outstretched hand.

And at that moment came the sound of Warwick Treman calling.

"Hi, Marcella! Are you there? Where are you hiding?"

Her hand dropped to her side with a helpless, trapped movement.

"Your fiancé is waiting for you. You must go!" said Miles, in a level tone, and turned away.

Miles Holden started work early on the morning following his arrival, and remained shut up all day in the big studio out in the grounds.

"He has had a sudden inspiration," explained Lady Warrington to her guests. "But I expect the real reason is that his excessive industry is that he wants to get the job done quickly, and get away from us."

The remark affected both the younger women of the party. To Marcella it gave a little stab of pain. To Leonie Day it caused an irritation. She wanted all those dunderheads to know that the clever sculptor was her property.

"Oh, you don't know Miles as I know him," she observed, loftily. "He's a hard worker, but no one can play harder than he, when his work's finished."

This was delivered with a very knowing air, and a quick glance flung towards Marcella, as though to say: "You see, I understand all sides of this brilliant fellow! He and I have had many wonderful times together!"

That first day seemed to drag interminably for Marcella. In the morning she had gone horse-back riding with her fiancé (Lady Warrington had a good stable and her guests had the free run of it.)

In the afternoon Marcella and Treman had had a round of golf, and then the girl had escaped to her own room, ostensibly to "write letters," but in reality to shed a few deep-sounding tears.

"But surely I shall have another opportunity to talk to Miles tonight, after dinner!" she assured herself.

"Alas! No chance of it for Miss Leonie Day stuck to him like the proverbial leech. She even contrived to lead him off to a little music room, and warble charming little French 'chansons' for his especial benefit."

"I believe these two will make a match of it," Lady Warrington informed Marcella, little guessing how her careless words would hurt. "Indeed, Miss Day as good as told me they had fixed things up in Paris. A most attractive pair, I call them."

Sir Humphrey Davies had bungled round Treman's prett, fiancée, until the former was exasperated.

"You might give the chap a hint, Marcella, that two's company and three's none."

The girl had shown some signs of temper.

"I can't be rude! Besides, we'll get sick of each other's society if we never include anyone else." And she had walked away leaving an astonished and indignant man behind her.

It was then that she had come upon Miles and the Day girl in the music room, apparently having a delightful time together. The young sculptor was turning the pages of her songs, and leaning over the piano in an intimate attitude.

Warwick's former hints came back to add to Marcella's sorrows. She hid herself to bed, and cried herself to sleep.

The next day aured with pain, and Marcella and she went for a long tramp across the dried-up moors, returning soaked to the skin.

Warwick was not in the best of tempers. Twinges of rheumatism had set into his left shoulder and down his back. Marcella knew he had once had a bad bout of sciatica, and really she wasn't very thought-

What Women Wear

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

Dressmakers Must Have Big Boxes of Bits of Fur Left Over From Winter. The Quantity of Peltry and skins of fur as though one expected frost in June.

Observe the one in the sketch. It is of white karha, thin and supple, lined with water-green silk. The outer surface is elaborately braided with gray, the collar and cuffs are gray fur. This hat was launched for sports, but it remains as a service garment for general usage in the colorful country life now in full swing.

Possibly white cloth coats have come into high fashion for spring because of their success during the winter. Whoever could possess a white fur jacket or evening wrap in January says it's that it hung in her wardrobe. White cloth did not have an innuit, but ermine, cone and white velvet, elaborately embroidered with gold or silver, were chosen instead of colors. White fur, especially ermine, was profusely used for decoration.

These things led up to the exploitation of white coats for general wear. They may not reach high success. That depends on the public. But they have distinction and character, and as white had an amazing run of success both in Palm Beach and on the Riviera through the winter, it will not die quickly.

THE HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anne Rittenhouse.

WITH NEW POTATOES.

New potato season is at hand, and most of us look forward gratefully to the change from the rather inferior old potatoes we get at this time of year to the fresh, new ones.

Remember that new potatoes, like old ones, should be of a uniform color. This indicates that they have been too near the surface of the ground, and sometimes indicates an almost poisonous unwholesomeness in the potatoes.

New potatoes should be a clear creamy white, whiter than old potatoes, which should, when raw, be slightly yellow.

A good way to test potatoes is to cut one of a lot in half. Look at the color. Then see how moist it is. If the water stands out in drops it will be soggy when cooked. Rub the two halves together. If there is a good deal of froth at the edges, the potato is good and starchy. The more froth there is, the more starchy, which is of course a desirable quality in a potato.

Another way some judges test for starch is to place the potato in a cut raw potato together. If they cling to each other, the starch content is high. If one drops off, the starch content is not sufficient to satisfy.

New potatoes are best, really, when they are served most simply. Just boiled, and sent to the table with melted butter, salt and minced green herbs sprinkled over them, they are delicious. Like old potatoes, they should be drained a few minutes before being served, and placed in a warm place, covered with a cloth.

DEER LEAPS FENCE WHEN FRIGHTENED BY OLD BILL BRYAN

Macon, Ga., March 30.—"Buck," a yearling deer at the Central City park menagerie, took a look at "Old Bill Bryan," a camel, then leaped a nine-foot wire fence and made a break for liberty. Spectators said they believed the old circus camel frightened the newly arrived deer. "Buck" was soon rounded up and imprisoned again.

E. A. Pound Approves Funds for Schools In Decatur County

Bainbridge, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—E. A. Pound, of the state department of education who has been here for the purpose of inspecting the $25,000 school building being built at Bainbridge and other school buildings in the county, approved the Brinson high school building for the $1,000 Barrett-Rogers fund and a $500 fund for the Pine Hill school building and $200 for Attapulgus. Decatur county has never received more than $500 from this fund prior to this year.

This aid will be of great advantage to these schools and the fact that the state department of education has been generous to Decatur county shows the wonderful progress of these schools in the last three years.

The county department of education is taking a systematic census of all children between ages of 6 and 18 years in Decatur county.

There would be about nine people to the square mile. If the entire population of the world were distributed equally over the earth's total surface area of about 197,000,000 square miles.

GREAT BENEFIT FROM CARDUI

Georgia Lady Says She Has Avoided Much Suffering by Taking This Well-Known Tonic Medicine

Clyattville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Cooper said:

"I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardui, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me."

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go and suffered. I had a friend who told me of Cardui, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardui has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill.

They all played bridge in the afternoon, and at night a crowd of boring young people arrived from neighboring houses, and danced merrily to the raucous music of a gramophone.

BEAUTY CHATS

BY EDNA K. FORBES

The best way to understand the subject of scientific dieting where calories must be taken as a measure of food and where the various food chemicals must be understood is to consider the human body as an engine. An engine burns fuel and the body burns food. A certain amount of fuel fed into an engine will make that engine capable of a certain amount of energy, and so it is with the human body. Holt, the great children's specialist, found from his experiments that a year old needs 100 calories for every 2 1/2 lbs. of body weight, that by the time he is ten years old he needs 80 calories for every 2 1/2 lbs. pounds he weighs, and that by the time he is fully grown he needs only 44 calories for this amount. This is, of course, because he is substituting new tissue for old and food that build additional tissue until he is fully grown. After that there is only substitution.

The scientists a century or more ago were so pleased at discovering that the average need of man is 2700 calories a day, and at discovering the calorie value of various foods that they went strictly to the analogy between the human body and the engine. An engine will run if given a sufficient quantity of any sort of fuel. One potato has a calorie value of 100 but it would not be advisable for man to consume 1200 calories to get it.

In the French Revolution the scientists, knowing that meat was a protein thought that the poor could get the protein they needed by eating gelatine, also a protein, which was cheaper and easier to get than meat. Gelatine was introduced into the hospitals with dreadful effects, for the patients became sicker and many of them died. Scientists went on working to discover why.

My Interview With My Husband

Alma Gluck, famous singer, and her husband, Zimbalist, noted violinist, in their New York home.

BY ALMA GLUCK.

"I have been asked to interview you," I began and I am at a loss to know how to begin, having given up discussing things with you to avoid clashing. I shall choose to talk to you on music because we agree on that. That is, I respect your opinion so profoundly, I have come to look upon it as my own.

"Aren't you exaggerating a bit? I seem to remember tears when we were discussing singing."

"Ah, because you were entirely wrong about that. You are wrong because you look upon a song only as a musical unit, forgetting that the poem is an important factor."

"Of course, musical phrases must not be disturbed."

"Ah, that's impossible," I replied. "The good singer must compromise between musical continuity and literary content and the more successfully he accomplishes that, the greater is his art."

"And you would sacrifice musical phrasing to make the meaning of a song and the words clear?" he said.

Again at Impasse.

"That is not a fair question. I should compromise, as I said." And I continued:

"Of course I think a song is badly made when the composer has not tried to breathe with the poet."

"Then you consider the music secondary to the poem?"

"If you choose to put me down that way, I shall have to say yes, to prove my premise. Great songs are inspired by great poems—that is why so few translations are successful."

"I see we are again at one of the impasses, where we can't compromise."

"No," I answered, "because you're unreasonable. You judge a singer as you do a violinist."

"Haven't you admitted that they have a great deal in common and that what I said was right, when I said the bow is like the singer's breath?"

"Very true, darling, and I shall be eternally grateful for the infinite things you have taught me, and I am afraid that I am not as good a teacher as you are. If I had been I would have conveyed some of my ideas to you."

"Perhaps you are right, or else I am stupid."

"Ah, don't say that, you are just bantering. Let us see if we can agree about the future from American Musicians," said my husband.

"What do you mean future?" "They have a present. I think there are a great many excellent musicians in America."

"Of course, but I am ambitious. I wish a great national conservatory for the unhampered fulfillment of the talent here."

"Great talent would arrive and would achieve its mission without a conservatory," he said.

"Now, really, is that the esteem that you have for the achievements of the great Petrograd and great Moscow conservatories?" I asked.

"Fine Things Accomplished."

"Ah no. They have done fine things, of course. I am only saying that I don't believe the lack of a conservatory here has kept American talent back. Talent will find expression in spite of hardships."

"Oh, of course," I said. "I do not feel that way at all. There is always a regret in my soul and I sigh with goldsmith. 'Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its fragrance on the desert air.' Talent and energy seldom go together. You know that you did not want to go to Germany this fall to play."

"I was tired and had only a little while with you and the children after my long sojourn in the Orient," said my husband.

"And yet you had a marvelous success and the exhilaration of being applauded again by a musical and discriminating public are you not glad that I made you go?" I asked.

"Ah, I am not at all sure."

"Well, there you go again," I said. "I suppose that the difference in our points of view can only be accounted for by the difference in our temperament and nationality. I, being Latin, like the expression of approval and you, being Slav, are passive. However, I wouldn't have you any different. I adore you as you are."

CENTRAL GEORGIA POWER COMPANY ASKS RATE RAISE

An application seeking a 25 per cent increase in rates was filed by the Central Georgia Power company, which operates in Macon, Griffin, Forsyth and other Georgia cities, with the public service commission Friday. The commission will announce the date of hearing some time next week. It was stated.

Two main grounds for the increase in rates are advanced by the company in its petition—its net income is insufficient to furnish a fair and reasonable return on its investment, and under existing circumstances it cannot provide additional equipment to take care of the demands on its hydro-electric power by reason of its limited income.

Valuation of property owned by the company was listed at $7,393,892, including hydro-electric property, transmission lines and substations leased by the company from the Central Georgia Transmission Power company. With its increased rates, in the event they are granted, the company proposes to install a new power plant at a cost of $3,000,000 and ultimately make additional improvements.

Another petition filed with the commission Friday was signed by the county commissioners of Waycross, Ga., asking for a reduction in lighting and power rates of the Ware County Light and Power company, of that city. The commission set the date of this hearing for May 10 in Waycross.

College Romance Goes to Smash In Quick Order

Suit for Annulment of Elopement Wedding Filed in Chicago.

Chicago, March 30.—The prime romance of the year at Northwestern university went to smash Friday when Mrs. Audrey Lonnquist Scott, 18-year-old daughter of a wealthy Detroit realtor, filed suit for annulment of her recent marriage to Fred Scott, nephew of Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of the university.

Audrey claims she should never have eloped with Fred if she hadn't been "hypnotized."

Audrey eloped with Fred, who is all of 23 years old and the son of a Northwestern professor, in January, but their honeymoon lasted only a few hours. On their return they were met by two sets of angry parents, both predicting an annulment and calling it "puppy love."

Audrey was rushed away to Detroit and Fred, wowing eternal love and lacking parental support, went "out into the world to get a job which will support Audrey and myself."

The Northwestern campus was appropriately thrilled. Fred was a "Beta Kappa boy, and both young principals were quite popular. Fred's whereabouts is unknown, but

PRESIDENTS' CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN ASHBURN CITIZENS

Ashburn, Turner county, will be the next Georgia city to be honored by the Presidents' club, in line with its policy of entertaining representative citizens of nearby towns. "Ashburn night" will be on Thursday, April 5.

George T. Betts, Ashburn banker, president of the Georgia association, and a member of the Presidents' club, will be the principal speaker. He is expected to discuss the "Turner county plan," a system adopted by farmers in that county which has brought them prosperity despite adverse conditions.

Several members of the state legislature, including representatives from Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties, have been invited to attend, according to announcement by F. J. Paxton, vice president.

A dinner will be held at 7 o'clock next Thursday evening at room 123, Piedmont hotel, by the club.

PENN STATE

J. Morris Handled Roughly By Penn State at Buford; To Play at Almand Park

Wise, Nittany Lions' Slugger, Proves Star of Buford Game, Getting a Single. A Double and a Triple.

GAMES AT ALMAND PARK
Oglethorpe and Penn State will clash again this afternoon when the rival diamond combinations meet here at Almand park, on the River car line. The game is scheduled for 3:15 o'clock and a large crowd is expected to be on hand to watch the intercollegiate battle. "Jake" Morris, for Oglethorpe, will oppose Miller in the box for Penn. A game between the World's Fair team and the Federal Prison, will precede the college game. This is slated to start at 1:30 o'clock.

BY BILL MORROW.
Buford, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) Hugo Bezdek's long line turned here this afternoon as his Penn State diamond performers proved better than Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels, who should have been pretty good themselves in the sort of weather provided for the fracas. The Lions overcame the Petrels by a 7 to 5 count in a game played in a drizzle, overcasts being very much in evidence.

The Northerners had very little trouble getting on to the deliveries of the Petrels' first pitcher, Jake Morris. They accounted for one run in the first frame and then drove Morris from the box in the next stanza with several extra base hits. Their next tally came in the closing moments of the seventh, when aided by a nice double by Palm and a one-time by Wise they pushed across their final score of the day.

Oglethorpe countered in the first and second innings, but after that display the players seemed unable to lengthen their out and the ball did not succeed in evading the reach of the state athletes. The Petrels countered once in the first inning and showed across two runs in the second, aided by a couple of hits and a boggle in the Lions' infield.

northerners and aided by a jam-up defense had little trouble in getting the number of the Oglethorpe batters. The Petrels managed to touch his deliveries but the proposition of "putting them where they ain't" was the part that the Petrels had not succeeded in mastering before facing the said Mr. Fixter.

Mark Humphrey succeeded Morris at the beginning of the third and pitched a cool, heady game. He was in hot water on one or two occasions but pulled himself out of the hole and allowed only one run to be earned against his stuff. He was given plenty of support and with proper hitting by his comrades, might have overcome the lead of the eastern combination.

The Petrels' star third baseman, "Hank" Hafele, was the hitting star of the Petrel camp. He accounted for two one-base hits and handled himself well around the third corner. Several other members of the Oglethorpe camp fielded the ball well but their performances at the bat failed to draw any safe single applause.

LEAGUE WILL OPEN MAY 24
Rome, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) Play will not begin in the Georgia-Alabama league before May 24, it developed today when it became known that a movement is on foot to bring Huntsville, Florence and Decatur, Ala., into the league, making an eight club circuit. In the event that it is to be a 90-game schedule, closing soon after Labor day, a late start will permit the employing of school and college players who desire to break into professional ball through a Class D club, it was said.

LaGrange, Ga., has been invited to enter the league in the event that it is to be limited to six clubs. Five towns already have entered into a preliminary agreement and are ready to form a permanent organization. These are Rome, Selma, Anniston, Gadsden and Talladega.

Under the preliminary agreement rules will be observed. The playing field for promising players. Young players who can be employed at moderate salaries will seek places on the team. The team will be organized by the end of the season. Teams will be limited to 13 players, not more than one of whom shall have played in a league higher than Class D.

Yale is trying out some new football sons. There's nothing like a good, snappy anthem to catch a pass, block a kick or tackle a free runner in the shadow of your goal and fire him back to his one-yard line.

Percy Houghton expects to turn out a real football team in his first year at Columbia. He'll spend the summer tutoring to learn the language.

But Siki being such a false alarm, it looks as though Carpenter himself may have taken a plunge that time with the African boy. Anyway, those who paid $50-and-up to see him with Dempsey must now feel the wrath of the fellow who paid $12 for a quart of tea and got a quart of tea.

Eugene Criqui is upon us looking for a fight with Johnny Kilbane. Welcome enough, Eugene, but lay off those orchid silk shimmies, the royal demeanor, the secret training and the Guiltless for one and the same thing only for one and the same generation.

After Babe Ruth has read a page of print he feels sleepy and blames it on his eyes. That's generous of him. Others would blame it on Fanny Hurst or Christopher Morley.

AVIATORS TRYING FOR NEW RECORD
McCready and Kelly Hop Off in Effort to Break Endurance Record.
Dayton, Ohio, March 30.—Armed with enough provisions to last 44 hours, Lieutenants McCready and Kelly, in a specially constructed plane, were taken aloft by two army fliers to keep them up, under normal conditions, for 44 hours. They will take the sleeping and piloting the dual control plane.

Lieutenant Maitland's establishment of a new speed record of 243 miles an hour stimulated the endurance of the McCready-Kelly team. The performance Thursday he attained a maximum measured speed of 281.4 miles an hour at one time, chiefly by momentum gained through a full speed dive from high in the clouds.

YALE-GEORGIA IN 2 BATTLES

Macon, Ga., March 30.—(Special.) Steady rains which began late last night prevented the first of the two game series between Georgia and Yale, and by agreement between Yale and Georgia authorities the two teams will play both games of the series in a double-header here tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting.

The Red and Blue nine, although extremely short on pitchers, readily assented to a double bill and the first game will be called at 1:45 o'clock. The second game will start at 4:15 p. m. in spite of the fact that Yale's arm is not in the best of shape yet, he will be on the mound in the first game, and today expressed a wish that he might twirl both.

Hickey and Hartnett, both Yale veterans, will do much of the pitching. Hickey, who was injured last season, was expected to be the case, and he returned to the team this morning, where he is ordered to rest until the final of the other members of the Yale squad. Eddy gave his knee a wrench in practice before the game Wednesday, and today the fence in right field, after a fly ball.

FLORIDA GRID WORK IS ON
Gainesville, Fla., March 30.—(Special.)—Spring football practice at the University of Florida has progressed well into the third week, and during that period of time the men who will represent Florida on the gridiron next fall. Over thirty candidates for the varsity or freshman teams last fall.

The one big idea that Head Coach J. A. Vanfleet is putting across in his "week's" practice season here yesterday was the importance of spring training, tackling, interference and passing, so that with the first real game of the season, the team will be in a position to win. With only a little conditioning and smoothing up of the rough points necessary, Coach Vanfleet is introducing a new system of football this year, and one that bids fair to being most successful, if evidence can be taken from the splendid programs as outlined in the spring workouts so far.

Captain L. W. Amis, assistant coach, is putting the line men through a most severe practice each afternoon, and judging from the present outlook the line defense should be almost invincible. The backfield, under the personal supervision of Coach Vanfleet, is being daily instructed in the finer points of coaching, such as blocking, stiff arm, general defense, punting, passing and receiving.

Captain-elect Robbie Robinson, for the first time in the history of the first team, is being put through a rigorous training. In reply to a question concerning the present outlook along football lines, Captain Robinson stated: "Things look good to me in every respect. Both offensively and defensively. For the backfield we are going to have especially fast and accurate backs and the line will also be very fast, and far above the average college line in weight."

It will be remembered that for the past two years, Robbie has played an exceptionally good game at tackle for the Gators, being co-starred with "Ark" Newton in the Harvard game and receiving with Newton also, a southern mention. In Robinson's first year at Florida he played fullback, due perhaps to his ability at punting and passing.

All in all, Florida is destined to have a wonderful team this fall, one that is going to awake the sleeping giant of the South. The greatest heights among the greatest athletes the country is to produce in 1923.

BENTON CASE IS NOT OVER
Cincinnati, March 30.—The tip is out that the case of Pitcher J. C. "Rube" Benton, is not yet over and that a new line of attack will be tried by six National league clubs, which voted not to let Benton come back to the National league, the Cincinnati Times-Star says today.

TIPS FOR GOLFERS

BY GEORGE O'NEIL
JESS—GOLF IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN COLLEGE EDUCATION

President Byers, of the United States Golf association, will have earned the everlasting gratitude of golfers in this country if he now can find a way of persuading the acknowledged best amateur players in America to go to England for the Walker cup matches.

This competition is by all odds the outstanding golf event of the world and since the head of the American golf body has found a way to help out the amateurs in the matter of expense, by using the funds collected as admission fees at national tournaments last year, it is to be hoped that he will be able to persuade players like Bobby Jones, Jess Sweetser, Rudy Kuepper and others to find time, somehow to make the trip.

While the United States players won the series of matches in this country last August, the first of the competitions, it is a regrettable fact that several of England's best players, being amateur players, they couldn't stand the expense of the trip, or, if financially able, time was a controlling factor. Jones and Sweetser, being university students, as is Kuepper, and their studies may interfere with their going unless Mr. Byers can convince them that golf is more important than education.

The Walker cup matches are an international competition between this country and England, amateurs only, and the series can determine beyond all question which country has the better players.

TORKELSON'S CLUB STARTS
Hattiesburg, Miss., March 30.—(Special.)—With twenty members, the first practice season here yesterday Red Torkelson's activities as manager of the Hattiesburg team took the form of real work. The big job confronting him was that of moulding a team that will keep the fans keyed up to a point where they will support the club with paid admissions.

Out of the men on hand and those whom Torkelson hopes to get when the hatchet begins to fall in the higher rated circuit, the club boss thinks he can produce a club that will finish in the top three.

The men already on hand and practicing are: Pitchers, Bowles, Kirk, Williams, Torkelson, Fowler and MacFarland; infielders, Collins, Bates, Mack, Walker, Comeaux, Harzberg, Yost and Fisher; outfielders, Fulk, Salaun, Waithe, Krebs and George.

At this stage of the season it is impossible for the manager to gauge the ability of any of his men, but he is due to begin fielding his team next week, as fast as chinks show need of plugging.

Three games have been arranged for the first practice season here yesterday Red Torkelson's activities as manager of the Hattiesburg team took the form of real work. The big job confronting him was that of moulding a team that will keep the fans keyed up to a point where they will support the club with paid admissions.

Western Heights Quintet Fights Way Into Finals In City Basketball Meet

Pep Class Will Play Agogas in Second Game Of Semi-Finals at Y. M. C. A. Tonight. Finals Are Slated for Monday.

The final game of the semi-finals in the city amateur basketball tourney will be played tonight at 8:30 o'clock on the Y. court between the Agoga and Pep class fives. Finals will be played Monday night between Western Heights and winner of tonight's game.

Western Heights Baptist basketball team won a ticket into the finals of the city amateur basketball tourney last night on the Y. M. C. A. court when the Agoga Feds were taken into camp by a 43 to 20 count.

The game was much faster and closer than the score indicates for both teams played real basketball from the start. The Western Heights team, with Morris and Speilberger working nicely together in the passing and Wynn and Mott holding the guard positions well in hand the Agoga Fed team never really threatened, but gave a clever exhibition of passing and teamwork.

Morris led in the scoring with 15 points and Speilberger came next with 13. Perry also did quite a bit of scoring with five field goals to his credit.

R. Owens was again the star for the losers, with 15 points, and Smith again started at guard. The Fed team lacked the scoring combination that they planned to use in the first game, but that put up by the winners, and when the first half was over the score was 27 to 13, against the Feds.

Pep Class Winner.
Pep class eliminated the Georgian.

CENTRE WILL ENTER MEET
Philadelphia, Penn., March 30.—(Special.)—The Centre College will play Pennsylvania's Relay Carnival, which will be held here on May 10, 11 and 12, according to announcement this morning by Coach M. B. Banks. The relay scramble will be staged over the Cherokee Country club course and will be sponsored by the University of Tennessee.

Entry blanks have not been sent out yet but correspondence with such schools as Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Washington and Lee, North Carolina, Georgia, Georgia Tech and other schools indicates a great deal of interest. Practically all of the larger schools of the conference will send teams.

The University of Tennessee will hold a tournament preliminary to the scramble to determine its team. The Cherokee course, par 71, will offer a great mark for the golfers to shoot at. Jimmy Dickson, professional at the club, holds the course record with a 72, also equaled by Bobby Jones. Such stars as Ted Ray, Harry Vardon, Abe Mitchell, Jim Barnes, Jack Hutchinson and George Duncan have been unable to cover the course in par.

Teach Night school, 7:30 to 10. Soon after the start the Pep class forged into the lead, mainly through the ability of Tom Medlin to sink both short and long shots and the losers seldom threatened.

The losers played about the same brand of ball in the last half as that exhibited in the first period, which ended with a 13 to 7 score.

Medlin played by far the best game of the winners, while O'Connor and Haynes played best for the losers.

Sunday School Games.
Two postponed games in the Sunday school leagues were played Friday night before the tournament games were started. St. Paul played First Baptist 8 to 1 in a low-scoring match and Stewart Avenue beat the Luke 14 to 7.

St. Paul, the hero of low-scoring matches, won another game on a 5 to 0 margin. Many shots were attempted but lack of practice indicated a low scoring ability of the two teams.

During the first half only two field goals were scored, one by each side. The half ended with 4 to 3 score. St. Paul attempted a few more shots in the second half but in the first and two of them took effect for 4 points. The losers scored only one foul in the last half.

Stewart Avenue won a slow contest from the St. Luke's five. The team rocked along for several minutes in the first half before a point was recorded. The score at the end of the half was 11 to 5, with Stewart in the lead. Tucker did the scoring for the winners.

COLLEGIATE GOLF TOURNAMENT DATES ARE NAMED
Knoxville, Tenn., March 30.—The first college intercollegiate golf tournament will be held here May 10, 11 and 12, according to announcement this morning by Coach M. B. Banks. The relay scramble will be staged over the Cherokee Country club course and will be sponsored by the University of Tennessee.

Entry blanks have not been sent out yet but correspondence with such schools as Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Washington and Lee, North Carolina, Georgia, Georgia Tech and other schools indicates a great deal of interest. Practically all of the larger schools of the conference will send teams.

GRAFF'S SALE TO TRAVELERS SETTLES LOCAL INFIELD

Herman, Dowd, Killenger And Eddie Moore Cinch Positions With Atlanta

Little Remains Now for Those in Charge Save for Picking Pitchers to be Carried Through the Summer Campaign.

BY HENRY ALLEN.
Special Staff Correspondent.

Palatka, Fla., March 30.—(Special.) The news that Fred Graff, veteran third sacker of the Southern league, had been sold to the Little Rock club, coupled with the announcement that Elton Langford, recruit outfielder from the Yankees, had been added to the Cracker roster, the line-up for the opening day is practically complete.

Graff received the news this afternoon that he had been sold out right to the Little Rock club and was given orders to report at once. He left this afternoon for his home in Chattanooga, and emphatically stated that he would not report to the Cracker camp until his salary demand had been met.

The sale of Graff will leave the position at the hot corner vacant and Glenn Killenger, former Penn State star, who was secured from the Yankees, will be forced to hold down the position. Killenger will report to the club at St. Augustine for the first exhibition game. The Cracker will play on the tour through North and South Carolina. Langford should report within the next few days.

Probable Line-up.

The Cracker will line up on the exhibition tour with Killenger at third, Eddie Moore and Johnny Ring at the shortfield, "Snooks" Dowd at the keystone and "Babe" Herman, the rangy first sacker, secured from the Red Sox, at first base.

The burden of chasing high ones in the outer gardens will be in the hands of Joseph Guyon, veteran outfielder of the Cracker; Michael Burke, secured from Nashville and Langford, Jim Moore, the only other outfielder in camp, will probably be placed with one of the clubs in the South Atlantic league who the Cracker will play on the exhibition tour. Moore's release will be outright.

Of the eight twirlers in camp today it looks as if Bennie Karr, George Dunott, King Brady, Oscar Tresco and Cliff Best are certain of places, with Manley Lewellyn, Buddy Williamson and Fred Newberry battling for the other position.

Fred Newberry will probably be carried the first month. If he shows up well he may be the sixth man on the crew of flingers to be carried by the Cracker. Newberry is a youngster and has lots to learn, but he has more natural ability than any other slab artist in camp today.

Pitchers Get Chance.

There is little chance of President Corbett securing another flinger to fill the place made vacant by Dick Nelms, who was released because of breaking training camp rules. No doubt the crew now in camp will be given a chance to display their wares. If they fail the Cracker heads will have very little trouble securing men from their big league affiliations.

The infield will be composed of youngsters but all of them are unusually fast. With Manager Otto Miller behind the bat to direct operations, things should be well taken care of. If the crew of infielders that President Corbett has brought together ever gets started it will be hard to stop. With Burke, Guyon and Langford in the outfield the Cracker will have very little to worry about.

The receiving it seems, at this time will be in the hands of Manager Miller and Johnny Brock as a second string receiver. Chester Schmidt, who has held down the second string job for the past two years, will probably be farmed out to some smaller club. There is a probability of Schmidt being carried the first month in case Brock fails to round out into shape. Brock had a slight operation performed just before the training season opened and he was delayed in reporting.

When the squad breaks camp here Sunday morning and starts on the exhibition tour every man will be in for better shape than expected by Manager Miller. By the time the season opens with Nashville everyone should be ready for the grind, barring injuries.

Hollocker Is Ill.

St. Louis, March 30.—Charlie Hollocker, shortstop and captain of the Chicago Nationals, was confined to bed at his home here today suffering from after-effects of an attack of influenza last February.

Senators Have Been Shaken Up; Newcomers Will Get Trial

BY NORMAN E. BROWN.

The Washington Senators proved to be one of the busiest clubs in the majors in the matter of making trades and player deals during the off season. As a result there are many new faces on the team as it works out at Tampa, Fla., and there will be several new faces in the team that takes the field for the opening contest next month. Owner Clark Griffith and Manager Donie Bush will do more experimenting with the club than has been done in many a moon.

Four new infielders, three new outfielders, one new veteran pitcher and a young catcher lead the list of strangers on the team who will stick after the season opens. In addition to these Griffith and Donie have a dozen experienced rookies to catalogue before cutting down time comes.

Five Outfielders

The sweeping changes made in the personnel of the team is indicated by the outfield moves. Last season Griffith threw seven outfielders into the fray for periods of varying length. They were Brower, Shanks, Milam, Rice, Goslin, Earl Smith and Goebl.

Of these but two are now with the club—Goslin and Rice. Rice is a fixture of course. But Goslin will have to fight for a job with three newcomers—Wade, Fisher and McNamara. Of these three Wade and McNamara look ready to step in.

Griff figured that Joe Evans was needed in his infield when the Nat loss swapped Frank Brower for him. The former Indian originally was an infielder. Last year two youngsters La Motte and Bluege, and two veterans, Howard Shanks and Donie Bush himself covered third, but the position was the weak spot in the infield all season. La Motte and Bluege remain with the club, but Evans has the call if he delivers. Conroy, another youngster, shows promise.

Rog Peckinpah, worn out by many campaigns and trades, showed signs of slipping last season. Griffith and Bush had this in mind when Gannon, Holy Cross star, was obtained by trade from the Tigers in exchange for Eddie Francis, a rookie pitcher. Sam Harris filled the bill at second; everybody will admit as Joe Judge at first.

Muddy Ruel, obtained in the deal which sent Val Pichnick to the Red Sox, will be behind the bat in most of the games unless something happens to him—another new face on the team. Garrity may relieve Ruel some of the time, with Pete Lapan for third string man.

Big Chance for Russell

And on the mound Manager Bush will trot out a new figure—Allan Russell. The former Indian originally was an infielder. Last year two youngsters La Motte and Bluege, and two veterans, Howard Shanks and Donie Bush himself covered third, but the position was the weak spot in the infield all season. La Motte and Bluege remain with the club, but Evans has the call if he delivers. Conroy, another youngster, shows promise.

JACKET GOLF TEAM PREPS

The newly organized golf association at Tech, under the presidency of "Bip" Farnsworth, has been quite active these last few days. Captain Hale, aviation instructor, has been the guiding hand through it all. It was his enthusiasm and planning which made the association. He secured permission from the faculty and then organized the students.

About 20 members have been secured at the local clubs. This will enable all the members of the association to practice during their leisure hours. Druid Hills gave six memberships; East Lake, ten; Brookhaven, ten, and so on. Members of the association have been awarded these club memberships and are now practicing on the local courses.

The first match will be with the Marietta golf team right away. Frank McNeil, on the Marietta team, is one of the best golfers in this section.

In addition, letters have been written to all the large colleges and universities having golf teams. Dr. Crenshaw had authorized the club to invite the golf teams here on a reciprocal contract, one game here and one on the home course of "the enemy."

Mrs. Robert P. Jones, mother of Bobby Jones, has been elected sponsor of the club. In addition several prominent Atlantans have been voted in as honorary members. They are: Dr. Brittain, Dr. Crenshaw, Dr. Perry, Professor Merritt, Professor Donovan, Professor MacDaniel, Bob Martin of the Capital City club, Robert P. Jones, and Dr. T. P. Hinman.

Manuel Cueto Signs.

Mobile, Ala., March 30.—Manuel Cueto, shortstop of the Mobile baseball club, champions of the Southern association, who has been a holdout, has signed his contract and will report at once, according to an announcement today by President R. M. Weinacker, of the local club. Emmet Mulvey, outfielder, is now the only one of the regulars of the club who has not signed for the 1934 season.

Sport Writer Dies.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30.—William Ford, 50 years of age, veteran sport writer of The Boston Globe, died here about 1 o'clock this afternoon, following a heart attack.

Williams Improved.

Chicago, March 30.—Improvement was noted today in the condition of Chicago White Sox pitcher, who is ill of pneumonia.

JACKET 'FISH' BATTLE FLA.

The Tech swimming team left last night for Gainesville, Fla., where tonight they will meet the tankmen representing the University of Florida. This is the first time that a Tech swimming team has ever made so long a trip.

Swimming at Tech has not been an active sport for some time, but this year under the captaincy of Walker Saussey, daily practices have been held, and a good team has been developed.

The first meet was with the Citadel. In this meet Tech did not do so well, due to the absence of two of her stars. But both are back in the running now and will be strong contenders for Tech today.

It has been decided to allow freshmen to compete. This was done at the request of the University of Florida. The arrangement, just suits Tech, for the freshman team is just as good, if not a shade better than the varsity.

However only one freshman will make the trip. Welch was the man chosen after trial had been made. Fortified by his presence, Tech should take Florida's measure.

DAHLONEGA AGS PULL RALLY AND WIN

Dahlonega, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Polly Humber, pitched the North Georgia Aggies to a 5 and 4 victory over the Piedmont nine here today. The game was close from start to finish, the visitors holding the locals scoreless until the fifth inning.

With a three-run lead to overcome, the Aggies rallied in the seventh and ninth and made the runs needed to overcome their opponents lead.

Score:
Dahlonega 600 010 202
Piedmont 100 200 100
Batteries—for Dahlonega, Humber and Clyatt; Piedmont—Sweeney, H. Forrester and F. Forrester.

WICHITA FALLS SEEKS PITTSBURG CASTOFFS

Hot Springs, Ark., March 30.—Wichita Falls of the Texas league is a bidder for surplus players now in the camp here of the Pittsburgh National league club. This became known today after a conference between A. O. Harvey, president of the Wichita Falls club, and "Bill" McKenzie, manager, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates.

Next Tuesday has been tentatively fixed as the "weeding out" day for the Pirates and it is expected a number of young players will be turned over to Wichita.

Rain Ruins Jacket-Penn Battle; One Game Today

Coach Clay Figures on Starting Sneed, Last Year's Freshman Star, Against Penn.

BY JOHN STATION.

Rain—no game. That is the shortest story ever written. And it applies especially to the proposed Tech-University of Pennsylvania game, which was to have been played yesterday afternoon.

Though no torrents poured on the field, a steady drizzle did as much damage. At the time scheduled for the game to begin, Coach Clay and umpires walked out through the mud and proclaimed, with the agreement of Penn., of course, that the field was in no condition to be played upon. And, even if they had decided to go on with it, the darkness would have severely hampered any kind of playing at all.

But a day off comes as a welcome rest to Penn team, and does not hurt the feelings of the Tech team at all. Penn has been on the hop ever since she left Philadelphia, and this little rest will be most enjoyable.

Coach Clay announced that there would be no double-header today. The game will begin at 3 o'clock instead of 4 and Sneed will pitch for the Jackets. Coach Clay had such great success with his ball game when he pitched Enloe, that he has decided to give all his new pitchers a chance. Enloe is the trail blazer. It remains now for the others to follow in his footsteps.

Sneed is a good pitcher, well above the average. He was hurler for Dad Amis' freshman team last year, and won a comfortable majority of his starts. He is a right-hander and can put everything on the ball except a loop-the-loop curve. He is a sophomore in school and, according to Coach Clay has improved more in one year than any man he ever saw.

Tech will have some high-powered opposition in Pennsylvania. Their defeat of Georgia proved that they have a formidable crew arrayed for Tech. They tell us that Schuff is a regular bear on first base. Goldblatt hit almost 400 last year, and has been bursting the pie out of the apple so far this season. Huntzinger, a veteran of three seasons, is considered as one of the premier hurlers in the east. Tech will have to put out lots to match the skill and cunning of Pennsylvania.

The two games which Tech has played have brought to light two very significant features. Baum and Denike. If ever two college ball players have come up from the ranks, these are the two. Both started their careers as lowly scrubs, hardly worthy of of retention on the squad. Coach Clay said the other night that when he first saw them play, neither one appeared worth killing.

But look them over now—the two most valuable men on the team. The beauty of the whole thing is that they made themselves by work and fighting, sticking in there all the time, plugging, fighting, thinking.

Shiny came to Tech from Boys' High. He managed to make his letter there his last year. But he had not played much baseball prior to that time. He came to Tech and was hardly good enough to make the freshman team. He was used as a scrub.

Then he began working and developing. When down on the field, he thought of nothing else except some way to better his game. He took baseball seriously. Last year he got his big chance when Roane was forced to the side-lins with a sore arm. He was rather slow and he couldn't hit consistently. But he could field, and he could fight. He made his letter.

Last fall, during football season, he was out practicing baseball. He ran, he sprinted, he caught imaginary grounders. The result was only natural. Coach Clay says that he is at least 30 per cent faster than last year. He comes in on grounders faster and he can hit consistently. Out of ten times at bat these last two games, he made six safe hits. Johnny Baum has come through.

Skinny Denike hails from Lanier High in Macon. He was a four-letter man there. Played half and quarter in the football team; high jumper on the track team, forward on the basketball team, and outfielder on the baseball team.

When he came to Tech he assumed his regular position in the field. He played on the freshman team that year in left field, but last year Coach Clay saw that he had within him the makings of a good infielder. So he transplanted "Skinny" to second base. The position was new to him, but he kept plugging. He watched his chances and improved his hitting perceptibly.

This year, when the try-out came, he was right in there with a vim. He is a beautiful fielder and can awe in addition. "Skinny" has come through, too.

Bankston Is Holdout.

Charlotte, N. C., March 30.—Everett Bankston, one of the heaviest hitting outfielders in the South Atlantic association, has left for his home in Georgia. It was learned today after failing to come to terms with the Charlotte club. He played last year with Greenville, but was the property of the New York Americans, who sent him to Charlotte this spring as the result of a trade.

"Well, that income tax business is attended to and I feel relieved." "Of course, but how much?"—Boston Transcript.
